Just like all ring-tailed lemurs, Maki liked to bathe in the yellow sunrise every morning, and huddle under the silvery moon every night.

But . . .

. . . Maki DIDN'T like to LISTEN.

No matter what Mama said, Maki always thought he knew better.

He had an answer for EVERYTHING!

"Quick! Cling on to my belly, Maki!"
"But Mama, I'm TOO BIG and TOO CLEVER to be clinging on!"

Poor Mama was exhausted.

"Maki - If you want to be in MY troop, you HAVE to LISTEN to me and follow MY rules," she started to explain . . .

but Maki STILL wasn't listening!

"If only I was in MY OWN troop,"
Maki said to himself.
"There'd be NO RULES and I wouldn't have to LISTEN to ANYONE!"

And with that, he decided to set off on a big adventure –

ALL BY HIMSELF

(or so HE thought . . .)

Maki dashed, jumped, and leapt across the forest floor, without a care in the world. He was FREE!

Then, as darkness began to fall, Maki realised something . . .
