

Opening extract from

The Copper Tree

Written by

Hilary Robinson

Illustrated by

Mandy Stanley

Published by

Strauss House Productions

All Text is Copyright © of the Author and/or Illustrator

Please print off and read at your leisure.

Words by Hilary Robinson

www.hilaryrobinson.co.uk

Pictures by Mandy Stanley

www.mandystanley.com

STRAUSS HOUSE PRODUCTIONS

Lumby Grange, Lumby, South Milford, North Yorkshire, LS25 5JA

www.thecoppertree.org

First published in Great Britain 2012

Text copyright © Hilary Robinson 2012

Illustrations copyright © Mandy Stanley 2012

Hilary Robinson and Mandy Stanley have asserted their rights to be identified as the author and illustrator of this work under

The Copyright, Designs and Patents Act, 1988

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library

All rights reserved. ISBN 978-0-9571245-0-9

Printed in the UK

When our teacher, Miss Evans, didn't come to school, Mr Banks asked us all to sit on the mat. We sang her favourite song All Things Bright and Beautiful.

Mr Banks said Miss Evans wasn't well but would try and pop in to see us from time to time.

We all made her a giant Get Well Soon card. I drew a bear with a plaster on its knee because Miss Evans put one on my knee once.

Alfie Tate rubbed out his name sixteen times because he kept making mistakes and there was nearly a hole in the page but Mr Banks said, 'not to worry, Miss Evans would understand.'

Miss Evans sent us a letter to say our card had really cheered her up. She said she would come and see our play which was Jack and the Beanstalk.

