

extracts from

Peep Inside Space

Written by

Anna Milbourne

Illustrated by

Simona Dimitri

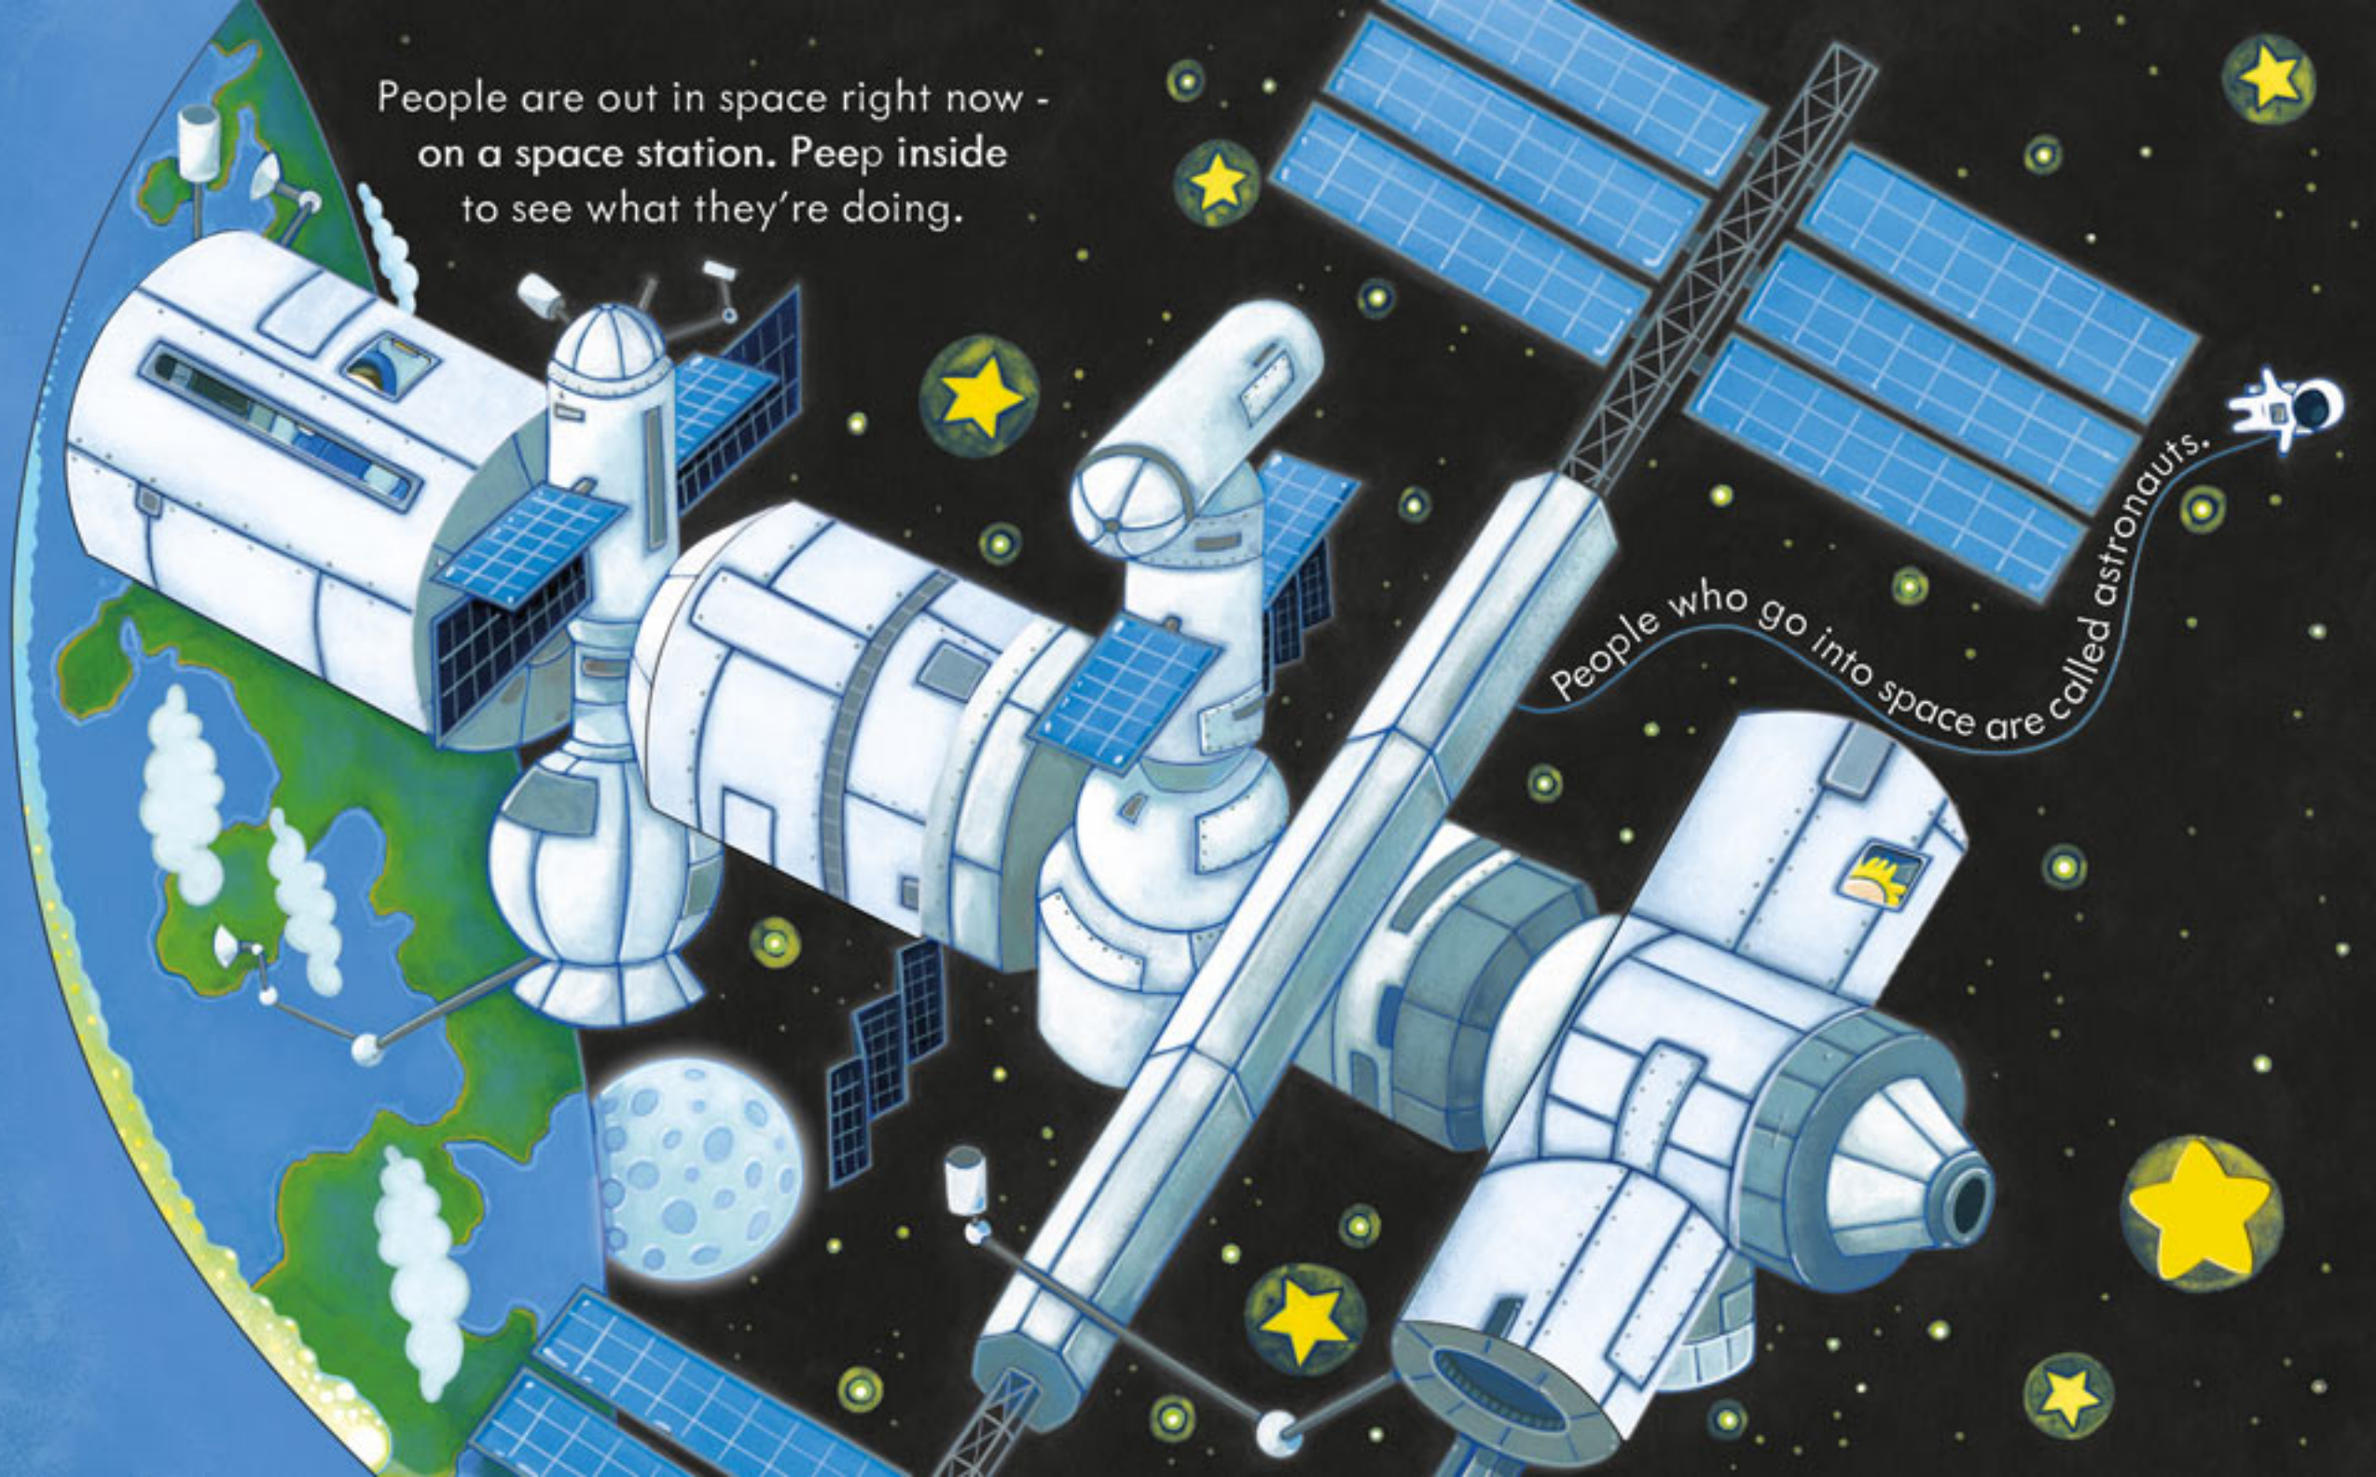

Published by

Usborne Publishing Ltd

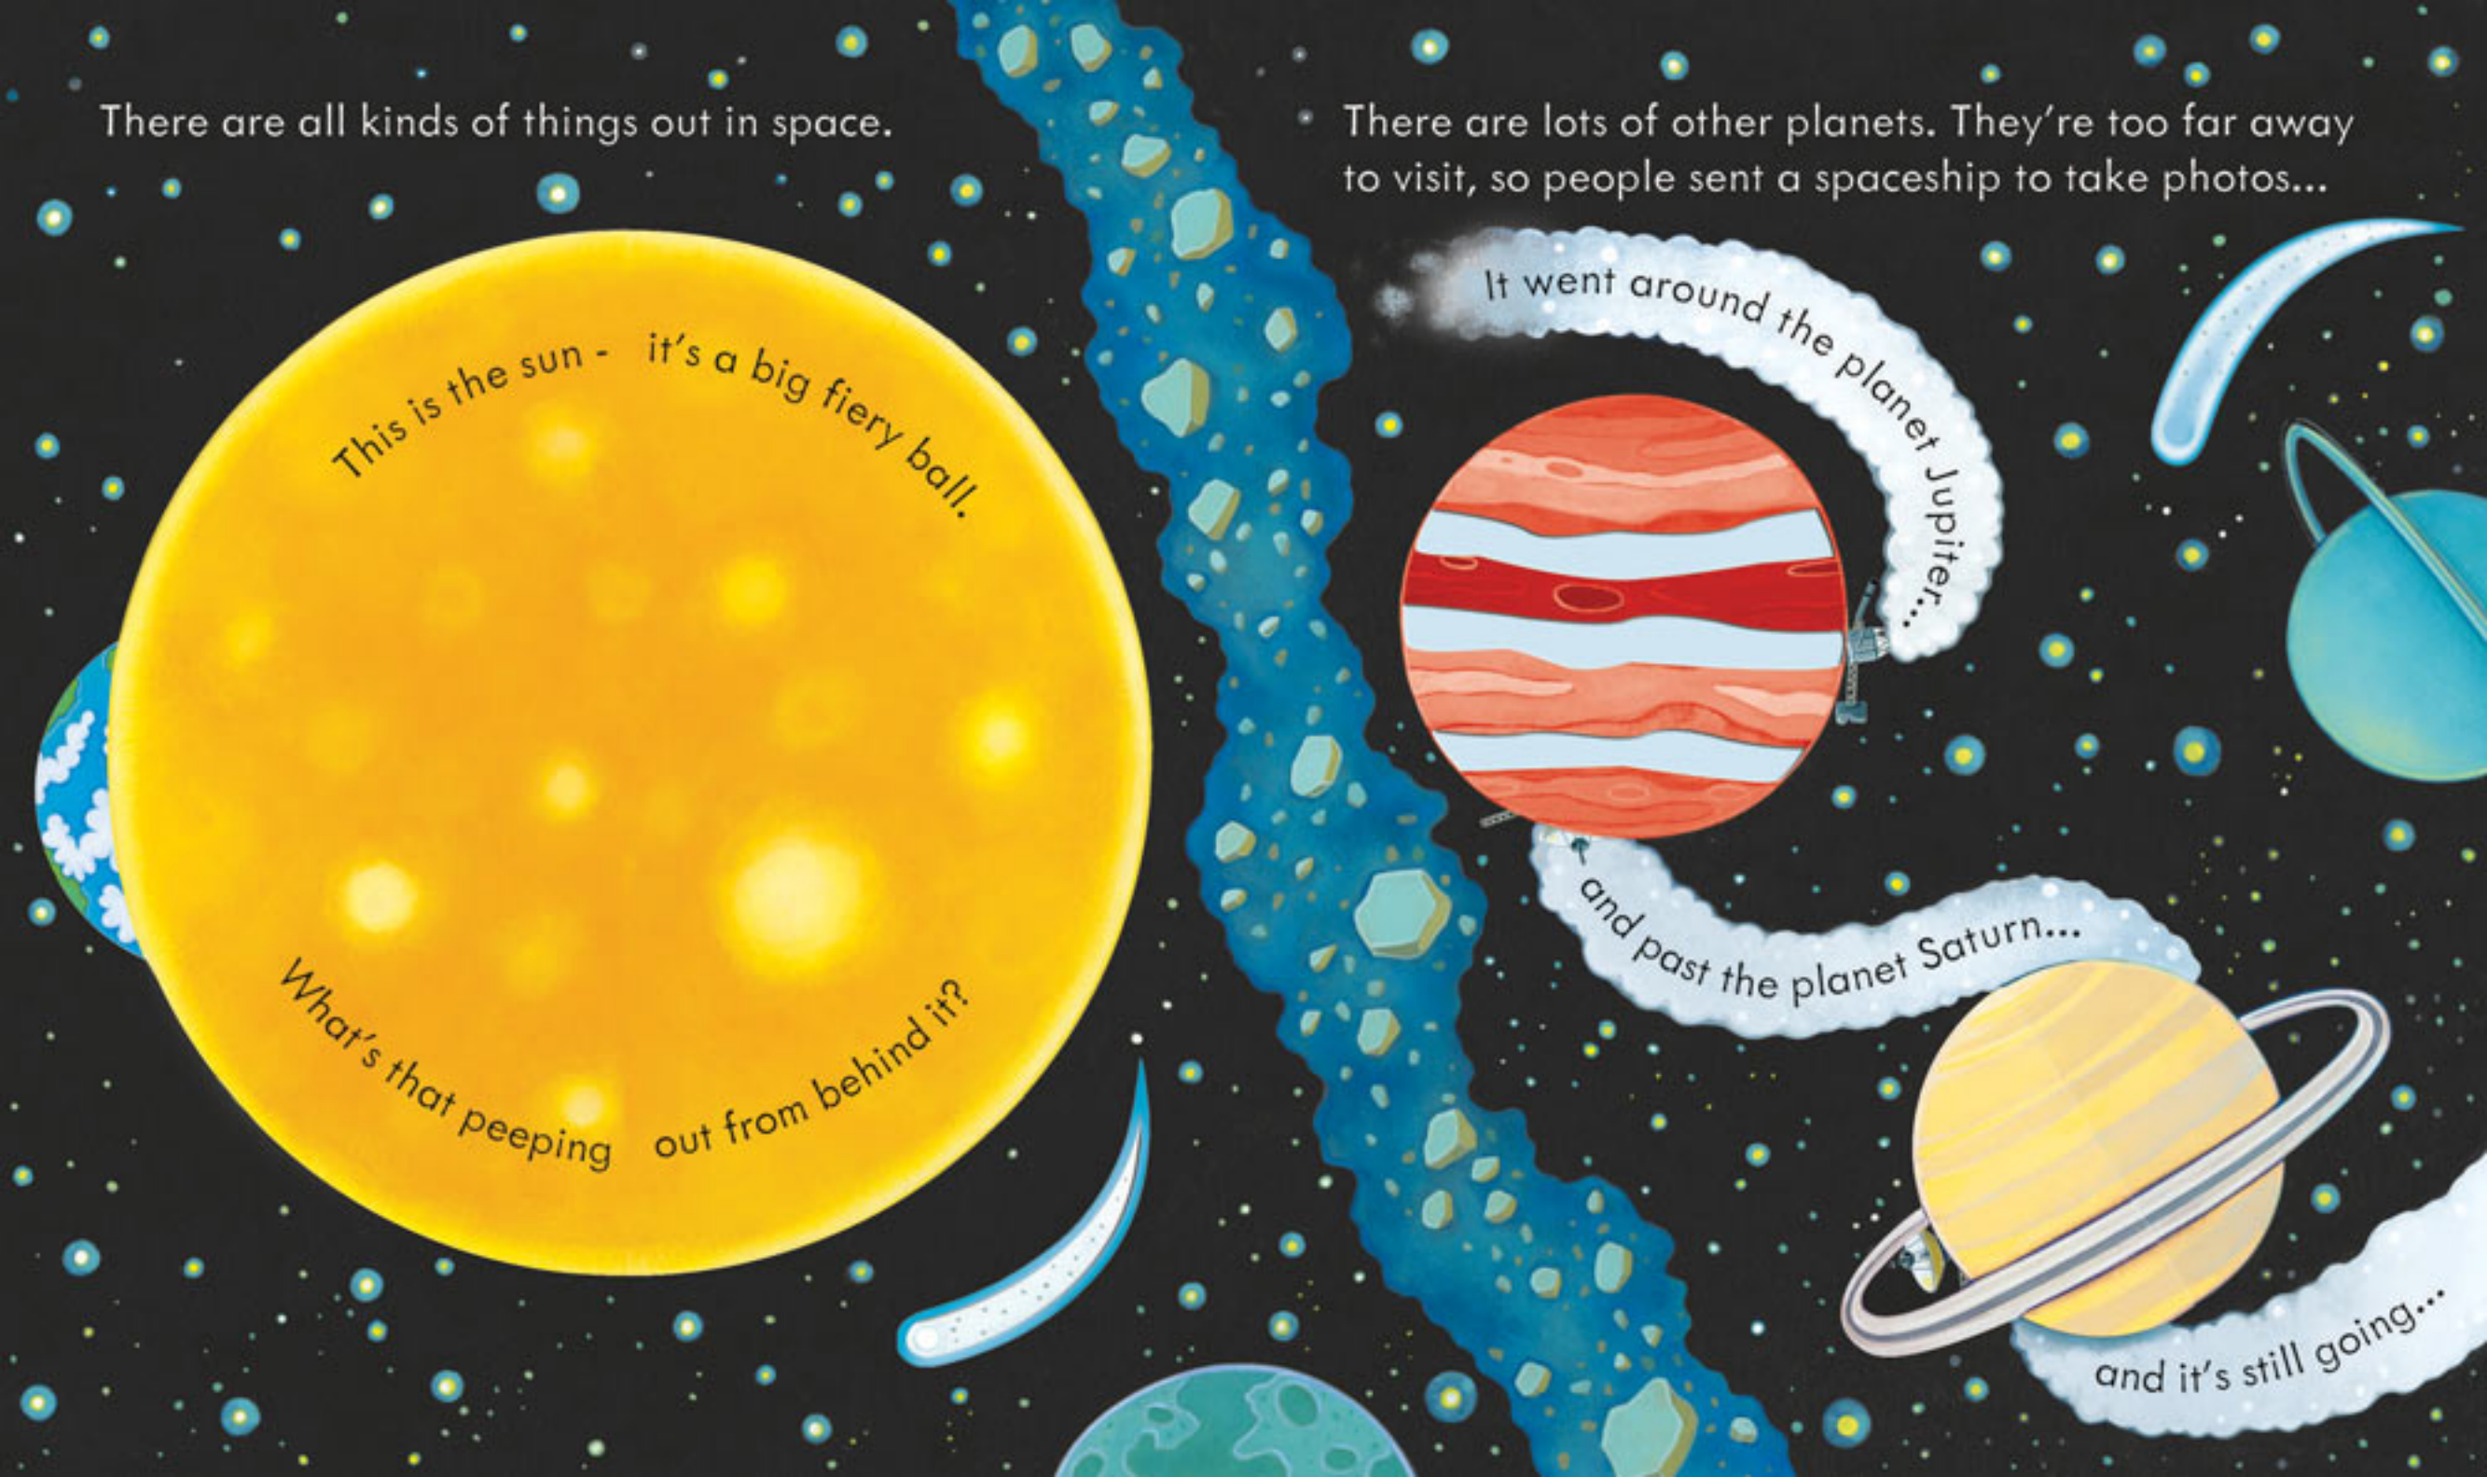

All Text is Copyright © of the Author and/or Illustrator

Please print off and read at your leisure.

Lovereading4kids.co.uk

People are out in space right now - on a space station. Peep inside to see what they're doing.
People who go into space are called astronauts.

This astronaut is fixing the space station.
He is tied on, so he doesn't float away.
Can you see where he keeps his tools?
Astronauts always work in twos.
Where's the other one?

There are all kinds of things out in space.
This is the sun - it's a big fiery ball.
What's that peeping out from behind it?
There are lots of other planets. They're too far away to visit, so people sent a spaceship to take photos...
It went around the planet Jupiter...
and past the planet Saturn...
and it's still going...