Emma Lewis is an illustrator living in London. This is her first book for children.

‘Everyone says I’m going to love the museums...

Museums are big buildings filled with the oldest and oddest things from all around the world.’

Or are they?

A young girl journeys across the city to discover that not all museums are old or odd and that maybe the best museum might be a little closer to home...!

Everyone says
I'm going to love
the museums.

Museums are big buildings filled with the oldest and oddest things
from all around the world.

SUPER M

VISIT THE MUSEUMS!

And
there are lots of them!

This place
is enormous!

It's the Museum of Ancient Artefacts.

The things
inside are thousands of years old and from thousands of miles away

and they all
ended up here!

In the Museum
of Natural History
there are giant bugs
and peculiar beasts.

Rooms of strange birds
I've never seen before...
