Yes, that's right. Some FISH can FLY. I didn't believe it either until I saw it with my own eyes. To get away from predators, they jump out of the water and let their wing-like fins carry them on air currents.

SHARKS are dangerous. Don't do what I'm doing in this picture (I made friends with this one first which is why it's OK).

HAMMERHEAD SHARKS get their name because of the shape of their head. The eyes at each end give them all-round vision.

The largest snake
in the Belize
Jungle, the BOA
CONSTRUCTOR

can reach an amazing
length of 6 metres
from head to tail.
Sometimes it's hard
to see where it begins
and ends, or which end
belongs to which head.

CHAMELEONS are very sneaky. Their eyes can move separately from each other, so they can look for their dinner in two different directions.

We saw this LEOPARD prowling through the grass when we were in the jungle. Leopards are so strong they can haul their prey up into trees when they've killed it. It's lucky we made friends with this one!
