Late at night,
if you hear a knock at the door, it's best not to answer.
YOU wouldn't, would you? Because you may just find a mysterious . . .

That night, when Granny was softly snoring, Squeak tiptoed downstairs. "I'll just have a taste," he thought. What a bad idea!

YUCK!

Squeak grunted and growled.

He burped and slurped . . .

and dribbled and wiggled.

And he grew and grew and grew and grew until . . .

Chomp . . . slurp . . . BURP!
Pizza and pancakes!
Doughnuts and dumplings!
It STILL wasn't enough!

"MORE" Hyde growled.

And he hit the town to feed his mega-munchies.

WHAT'S THAT SMELL?

SAUSAGES!

OH YEAH!

FRANK THE BUTCHER THE BEST BANGERS IN TOWN!

GOT 'EM!

But all of a sudden, his tummy began to ache, and . . .

PARP! went Hyde.

POOF! he disappeared.

PING! Squeak was back.

Ooo – I do feel funny!
