My Mum's Growing Down

There's something I must tell you since my teacher will not listen, I wonder if you've heard of my mother's s-t-r-a-n-g-e condition, It is a bit unusual; I can't fake to be proud, I'm sure your mum's a grown up, But . . .

My mum's growing DOWN!

She says 'I've worked so hard for years and I deserve a rest!'
As she scribbles with crayons and pours custard down her dress, She's dangling from the banister with her head upside-down!
Does your mum do this?
Help!

My mum's growing DOWN!

Mum's as old as a T. Rex but she never acts her age,
And I can't take her anywhere as she always misbehaves!
She looks like a flamingo, a sparkle disco clown
Is your mum growing up?
Because . . .

My mum's growing DOWN!

She eats chocolate cake for breakfast, drinks milkshakes instead of tea, She draws on the walls with lipstick and blames the mess on me!
She cries her wrinkly eyes out if she can't wear her ballgown!
The house is crazy chaos!
Since

My mum's growing DOWN!

She seeks out the vegetables I've hidden in her mash Then with PERMANENT marker, she gives herself a 'tache
'Let's pretend I'm a dad today when we go into town!'
Not another day of this . . .
Please . . .

My mum's growing DOWN!

She says, 'I've taken care of you for years, now you take care of me!
Make me a jelly-pie sandwich please, then lullaby me to sleep.'
I just wish she'd do the dishes instead of 'chilling out'
Whilst your mum's making dinner . . .
Guess what . . .

My mum's growing DOWN!

She likes to play mermaids in the bath, bake cookies up from scratch And she stomps in the supermarket like a spoiled brat
If I don't buy that cereal she throws herself on the ground
And I'm supposed to be the kid!
But OH NO . . .

My mum's growing DOWN!

Mum says 'Life's too short for boring-ness, it's time we had some FUN!' As she sprays me in the face with her brand new water gun She's forgotten the word 'quiet' so her voice is BOOMING loud . . .
And I just want some 'me' time AS IF . . .

My mum's growing DOWN!

She shoves baked beans up her nose, blows bubbles in her juice ‘That looks like POO!’ she screams as you eat your chocolate mousse She lies on her back and sees rainbows in the clouds
Whilst your mum is a proper mum

My mum’s growing DOWN!

Now there’s glitter in the toothpaste, bunny ears on her head A gross collection of bogies wiped underneath her bed She’s learning to play the trumpet; she carries a hula-hoop around Can you see what I’m dealing with here?

My mum’s growing DOWN!

I apologise to passers-by, this is just what Mum's like As she rides behind on a skateboard tied to the backseat of my bike And if a normal mum makes you normal then I guess I'm out of luck Because all of Mum's growing down is making me grow up!

But 'a little touch of playfulness is what will keep you young'
So I wouldn't switch this naughty parent for another one,
Even though she's so annoying and stands out from the crowd There's never a dull day when . . .

My mum's growing DOWN!

My Mum Has Hair On Her Head and This Is What It's Like . . .

Mangled, tangled,
neck is strangled, spider leg dangles on a string.

My mum's hair is like Rapunzel's undles of bundle, what shall we do with it?

Knit a scarf for a giraffe, a hammock
for a swing,

sew a drawbridge for a moat, loop ropes for wrestling,

thatch a net to catch a pet, crotchet a field of wheat, web a bed a pillow and spread and a set of hairy sheets!

Mum says she loves it all winding and wrapping, spilt end snapping and climbing the walls . . .

But I cannot stand it all crawling and slacking and making me late for school.

It's a storage cupboard, a handbag to rummage, like Medusa's snatching snakes,

a beehive,
a tidal wave,
a nit-infested cave.

The brush is afraid, been missing for days and we're all out of conditioner and the scissors bend, the hairdryer plays sick for pretend and nobody can find the the hairdresser!

The rough scruff of trouble is a weed-breeding jungle that looks like the fluff in the Hoover!

Like dressing gown tassels you would NOT want to battle as you'd always end up as the loser!

To bulk it up she's even used bread, a roll of baguette on top of her head!

Grubby as sewage, you cannot comb through it so you're better off staying in bed!

It's like her hair has muscles as she does the daily struggle of wrestling with this halo boss,

it's bed head or wind swept, this head is a flea bed and is best to be SHAVED OFF!
