CHAPTER 1

Right and Wrong

There was once a girl called Mariella who was super smart and spent her days inventing. Mariella's head was always bursting with ideas. But she was only happy when she could turn her ideas into real things.

Most of the time Mariella thought that her ideas were great.

Two examples of this were her robot SURPRISE BALL! which kept her baby brother Harrison busy for hours, and then the Jump Rope Twizzler, which was very handy if a girl only had one friend to do skipping with.

But sometimes things did go wrong.

One example of this was the toilet seat sensor, which Mariella invented to stop Buster drinking from the bowl. Mariella didn't like to talk about that one.
