Arnold's life was just right.

His family loved him.

"I'm a lion?" asked Arnold, puzzled.
"Yes, look at your face in the water,"
said one of the lions.

It was true, they did look alike.
They had the same curly hair and whiskers.
Could they really be related?
"Come along with us," said the lions. "You should be out roaring and hunting!"

