To everyone, everywhere...
Remember that creativity is everything.
Let yours guide you.
—J.A.

This book is dedicated to my grandmother Nadine whose originative, positive thinking changes many lives and inspires creativity.

Justine Avery is an award-winning author who loves writing stories for all sorts of readers. She was born in America but grew up-and is still growing up-all over the world as a natural explorer with a curiosity for all things. She's jumped out of airplanes, off of very high bridges, and into shark-infested waters-to name a few adventures. And books are her favorite adventures of all.

Liuba Syrotiuk is a Ukrainian designer and watercolor artist. She works as an interior designer and watercolor illustrator. Liuba is a bright and sunny person, willing to find beauty in everything, especially in nature. Traveling around the world with a small box of watercolors makes her the happiest person.

lend this book freely!
It's yours—you own it. So, pass it on, trade it in, exchange it with and recommend it to other readers. Books are the very best gifts.

Thinking outside the box is like…

Coloring outside the lines
—on purpose!

Or doing the opposite
of the most obvious thing.

It might be trying something new that you've never done before.

Or being brave
when you feel a little bit scared.

It's always being proud of your mistakes.

Because they're just as valuable as every time
you get things right.
