Everybody dance all over the world!	30

Hey little human,
do you want to move
like the wild animals of the world?
Get ready to stretch
and waggle and wave.
Get ready to wiggle and giggle and...
dance!

Flamingoes live in a feathery crowd.
They wade through lakes on long stick legs,
dip-dip-dipping their beaks for food.
They like to show how beautiful they are,
to say "Come, build a nest with me."
Get ready to be a flashy flamingo and...
dance!

Stretch up tall, fine flamingo.

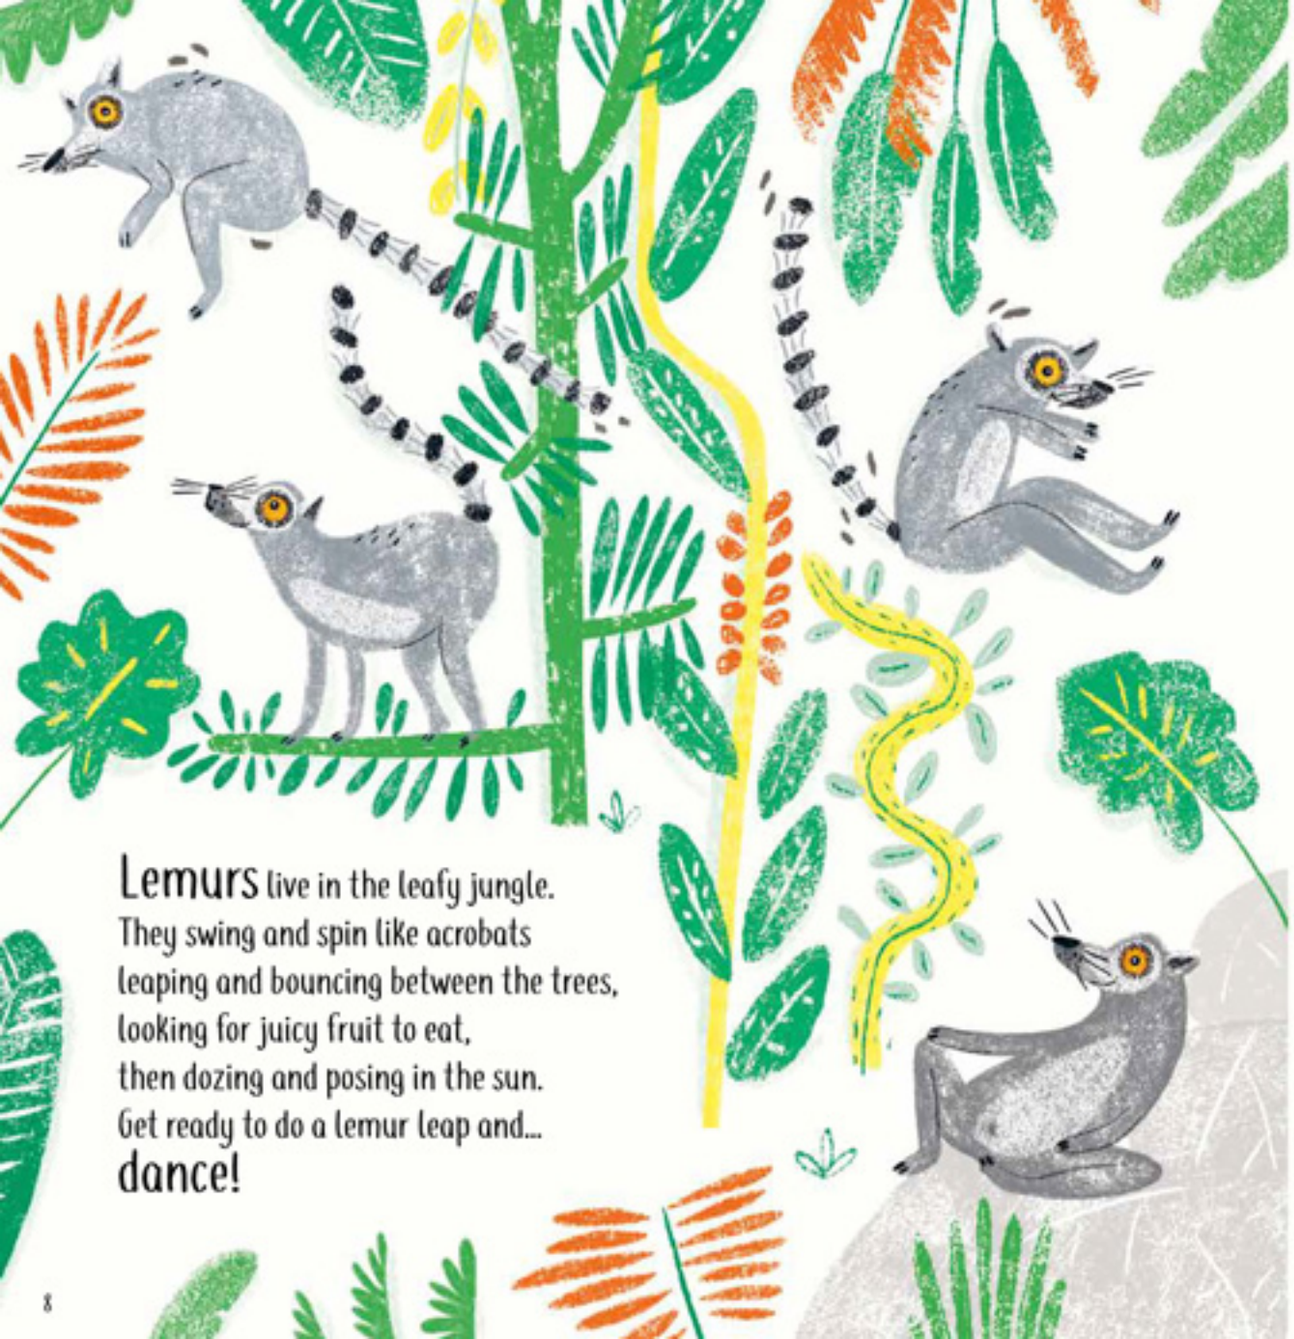

Strut around. You're very proud.

Stretch out your wings to show their colour.

Take a bow.
What a beautiful bird!

Lemurs live in the leafy jungle.
They swing and spin like acrobats
leaping and bouncing between the trees,
looking for juicy fruit to eat,
then dozing and posing in the sun.
Get ready to do a lemur leap and...
dance!

Crouch down... then jump up!

Bounce, bounce along the ground.

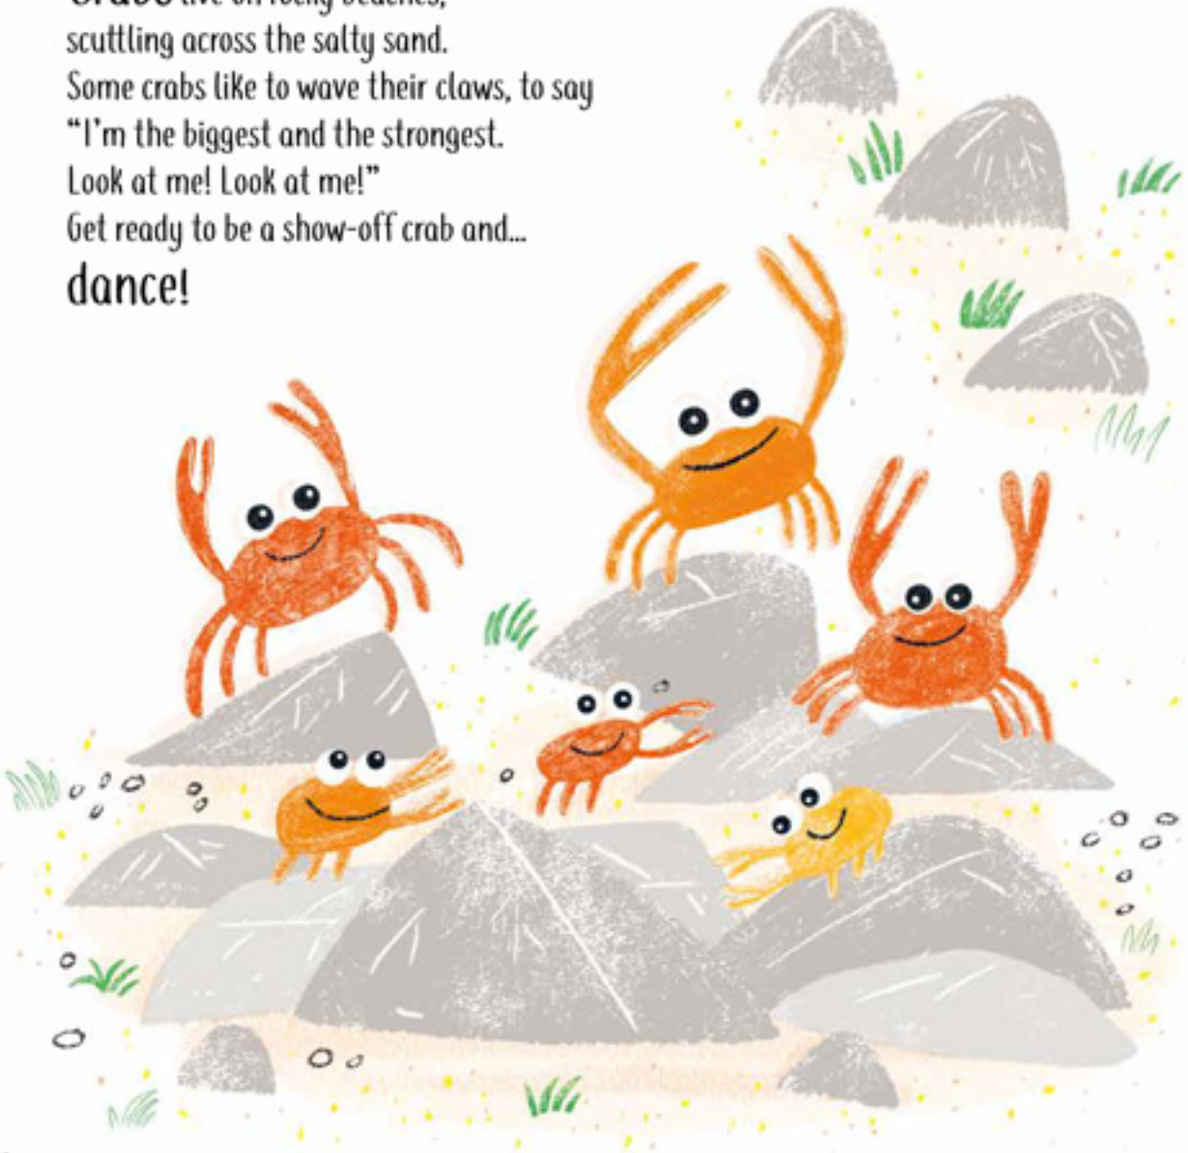

Grab a piece of fruit to eat.

Now stretch out your arms.
It's time to sunbathe.

Crabs live on rocky beaches,
scuttling across the salty sand.
Some crabs like to wave their claws, to say
"I'm the biggest and the strongest.
Look at me! Look at me!"
Get ready to be a show-off crab and...
dance!

Hold up your arms
like two strong claws.

Scuttle sideways, this way and that.

Wave a crab claw up and down.

Here comes a seagull.
Quickly! Hide!
