Potato peel = 6 points

GROW GREEN

Growing even a small amount of fruit and veg yourself can help the planet.

Can you find the following groups of home-grown vegetables in this busy veg patch?

Top Tip

Even if you don't have a garden, you can still grow fruit and veg. Try planting lettuces or tomatoes in window boxes, or use an old egg box to grow a mini herb garden.

ECO HOME

Ezra and Laila's family have a weekly rota for household jobs. Read each person's to-do list below and work out who does which job on each day of the week.

Fill in each name on the chart on the opposite page. One name has been filled in to help you.

Mum's to-do list:

Cook a meat-free meal three days after Dad and Laila cook theirs.

Do a food shop the day before Ezra washes his bike.

Dad's to-do list:

Cook a meat-free meal on the first day of the week.

Do a clothes wash four days after Laila waters the plants.

Ezra's to-do list:

Empty the compost on the day that Laila sorts the recycling.

Water the plants on the day that Dad does a clothes wash.

Help Mum cook a meat-free meal.

Wash bike at the end of the weekend.

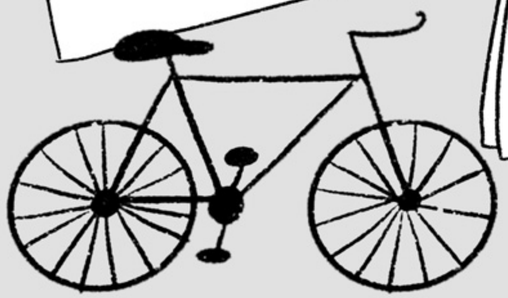

Laila's to-do list:

WONKY VEG WASTE

Wonky vegetables are veggies that used to be thrown away by shops for being too big, small or ugly. Which of these silhouettes matches this box of wonky veg exactly?

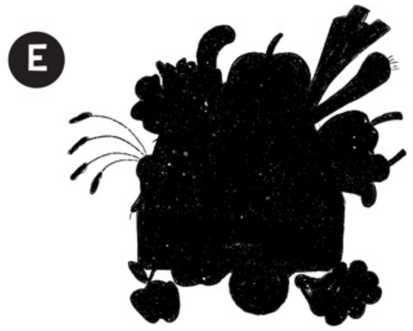

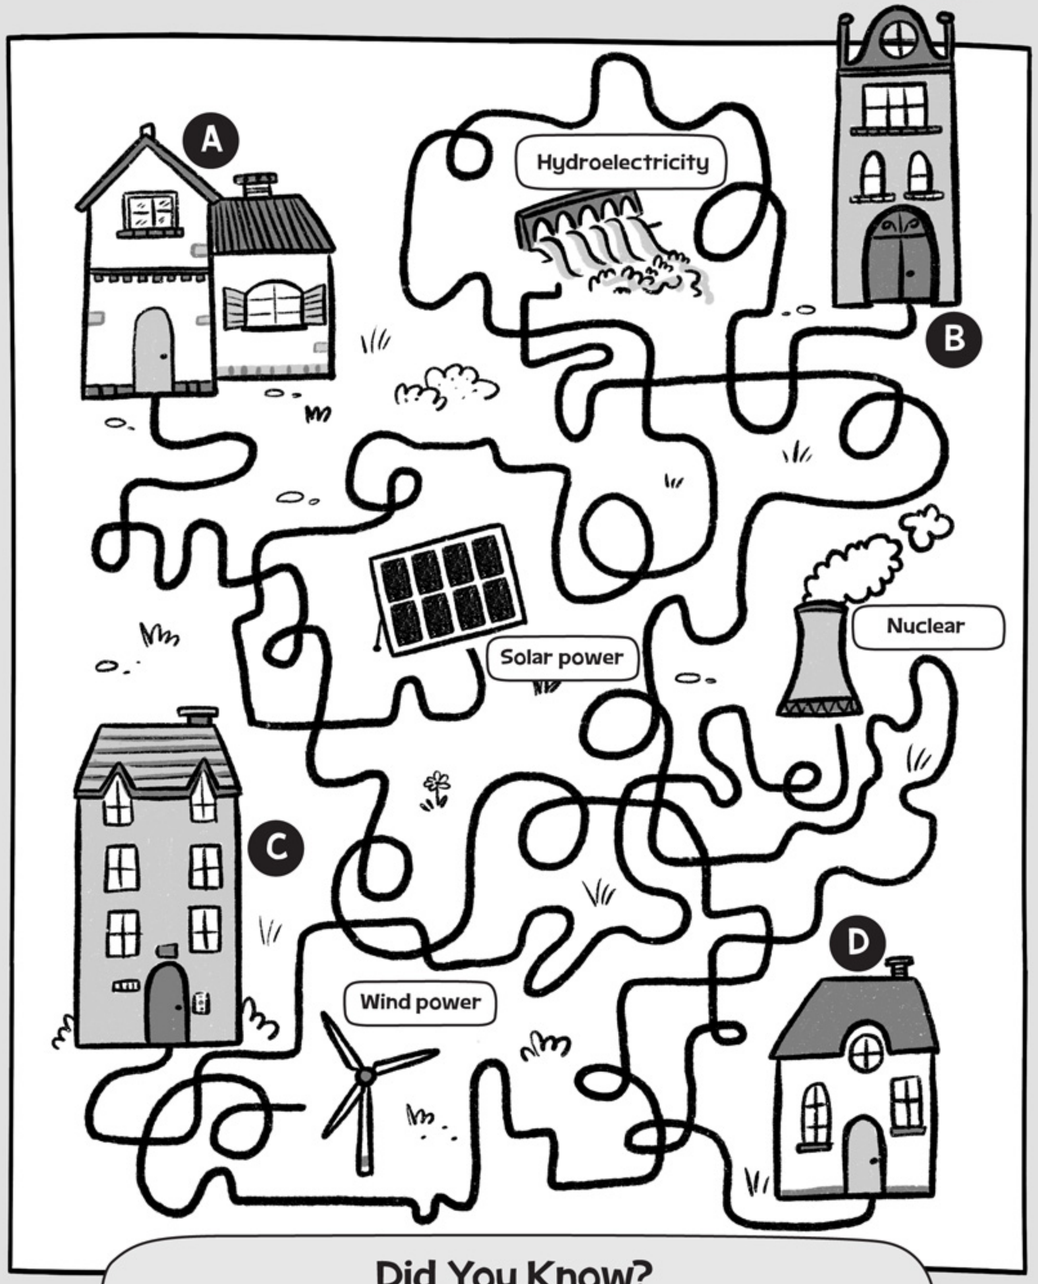

Top Tip

Wonky fruit and vegetables taste exactly the same as 'perfect' fruit and veg, and many supermarkets are now starting to relax their rules about stocking them. Support these schemes by encouraging your parents to buy 'wonky' groceries the next time they do a shop.

ECO ENERGY

These houses get their electricity from different forms of alternative energy. Follow the electricity wires to find out which house is powered by which form of energy.

Did You Know?

Around 71% of the world's renewable energy comes from hydroelectric power. China produces the most hydroelectricity and is home to the world's largest hydroelectric dam – the Three Gorges Dam, which spans the Yangtze River.
