
Tilly and Toby gathered all these things into a great, big pile of outside stuff...
...and decided to make something good out of what they had.

They inspected under beds for hidden stuff that might lie beneath...

...and peeked into spaces they had never before explored.

They scoured the tops of shelves and uncovered dusty things long forgotten.

