Following their dramatic rescue of the royal family from rogue palace guard-bots in an apparent terrorist attack on Buckingham Palace last year, sentient robots Alex and Freddy Sharma have found themselves thrust into the national spotlight. The world's only legally recognised sentient robots, they serve as agents of R.A.I.D. - Robotics Analysis, Intelligence and Defence - defending the UK from all manner of high-tech threats. while

ROBOT EXPO!

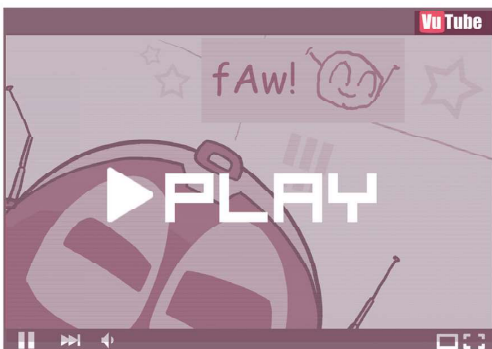

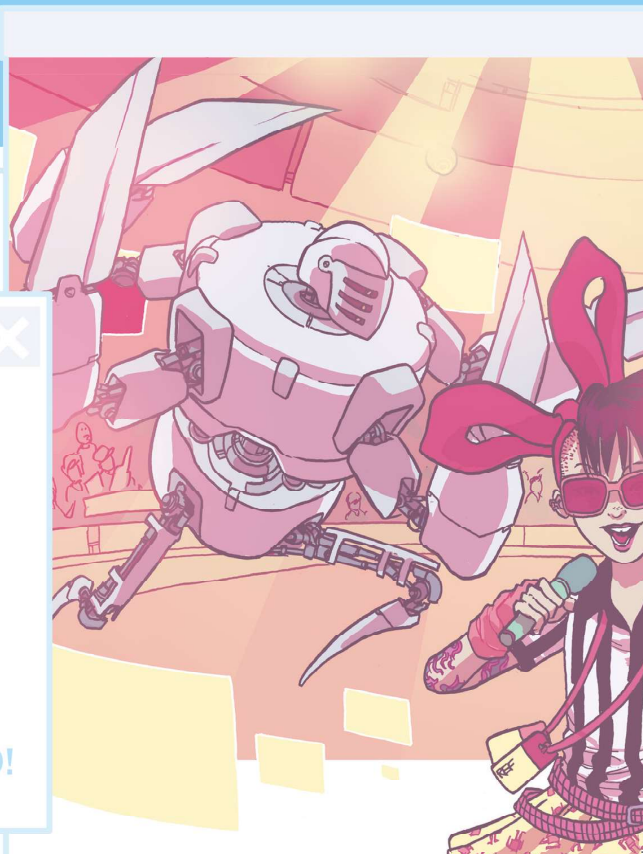

April

by Lynn Levy, staff writer

There were scenes of chaos at London's popular ROBO EXPO yesterday, after the event was disrupted by an attack from a currently-unidentified robot.

During a panel debate featuring U.K. director Baroness Fatima Farooq and science officer Nita Sharma, witnesses report that the attack could have caused multiple casualties were it not for the heroic efforts of sentient robots Alex and Freddy Sharma - the so-called 'Mega Robo Bros', who were attending the event and managed to subdue the rogue mechanoid.

Although there was significant and extensive damage to the Expo site, only a few minor injuries resulted amongst civilian bystanders at the event. As more robots were recruited to the scene, the incident was quickly resolved. "The event was a success," said the organizers.
