

A whimsical winter scene with rabbits and houses. The scene is set in a snowy landscape with rolling hills. In the background, there are three small houses: a red one on the left, a yellow one in the middle, and a brown one on the right. Bare trees are scattered across the landscape. In the foreground, four rabbits are depicted. One rabbit on the left is wearing a red scarf and is climbing a wooden fence. Another rabbit in the center is wearing a pink sweater and a green scarf. A third rabbit in the foreground is wearing a green sweater and a blue scarf, holding a lantern and a long stick. A fourth rabbit on the right is wearing a blue dress and a red scarf, running towards the right. There is a large tree stump on the right side of the foreground. The sky is blue with some white clouds. The overall style is that of a children's book illustration.
