OTTERS VS BADGERS

For Emilie
and Ben

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Great Clarendon Street, Oxford OX2 6DP

Oxford University Press is a department of the University of Oxford. It furthers the University's objective of excellence in research, scholarship,and education by publishing worldwide. Oxford is a registered trade mark of Oxford University Press in the UK and in certain other countries

Copyright © Anya Glazer 2022

The moral rights of the author and illustrator have been asserted

Database right Oxford University Press (maker)

First published 2022

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, without the prior permission in writing of Oxford University Press, or as expressly permitted by law, or under terms agreed with the appropriate reprographics rights organization. Enquiries concerning reproduction outside the scope of the above should be sent to the Rights Department, Oxford University Press, at the address above.

You must not circulate this book in any other binding or cover and you must impose this same condition on any acquirer

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data available

ISBN: 978-0-19-277780-5

1 3 5 7 9 10 8 6 4 2

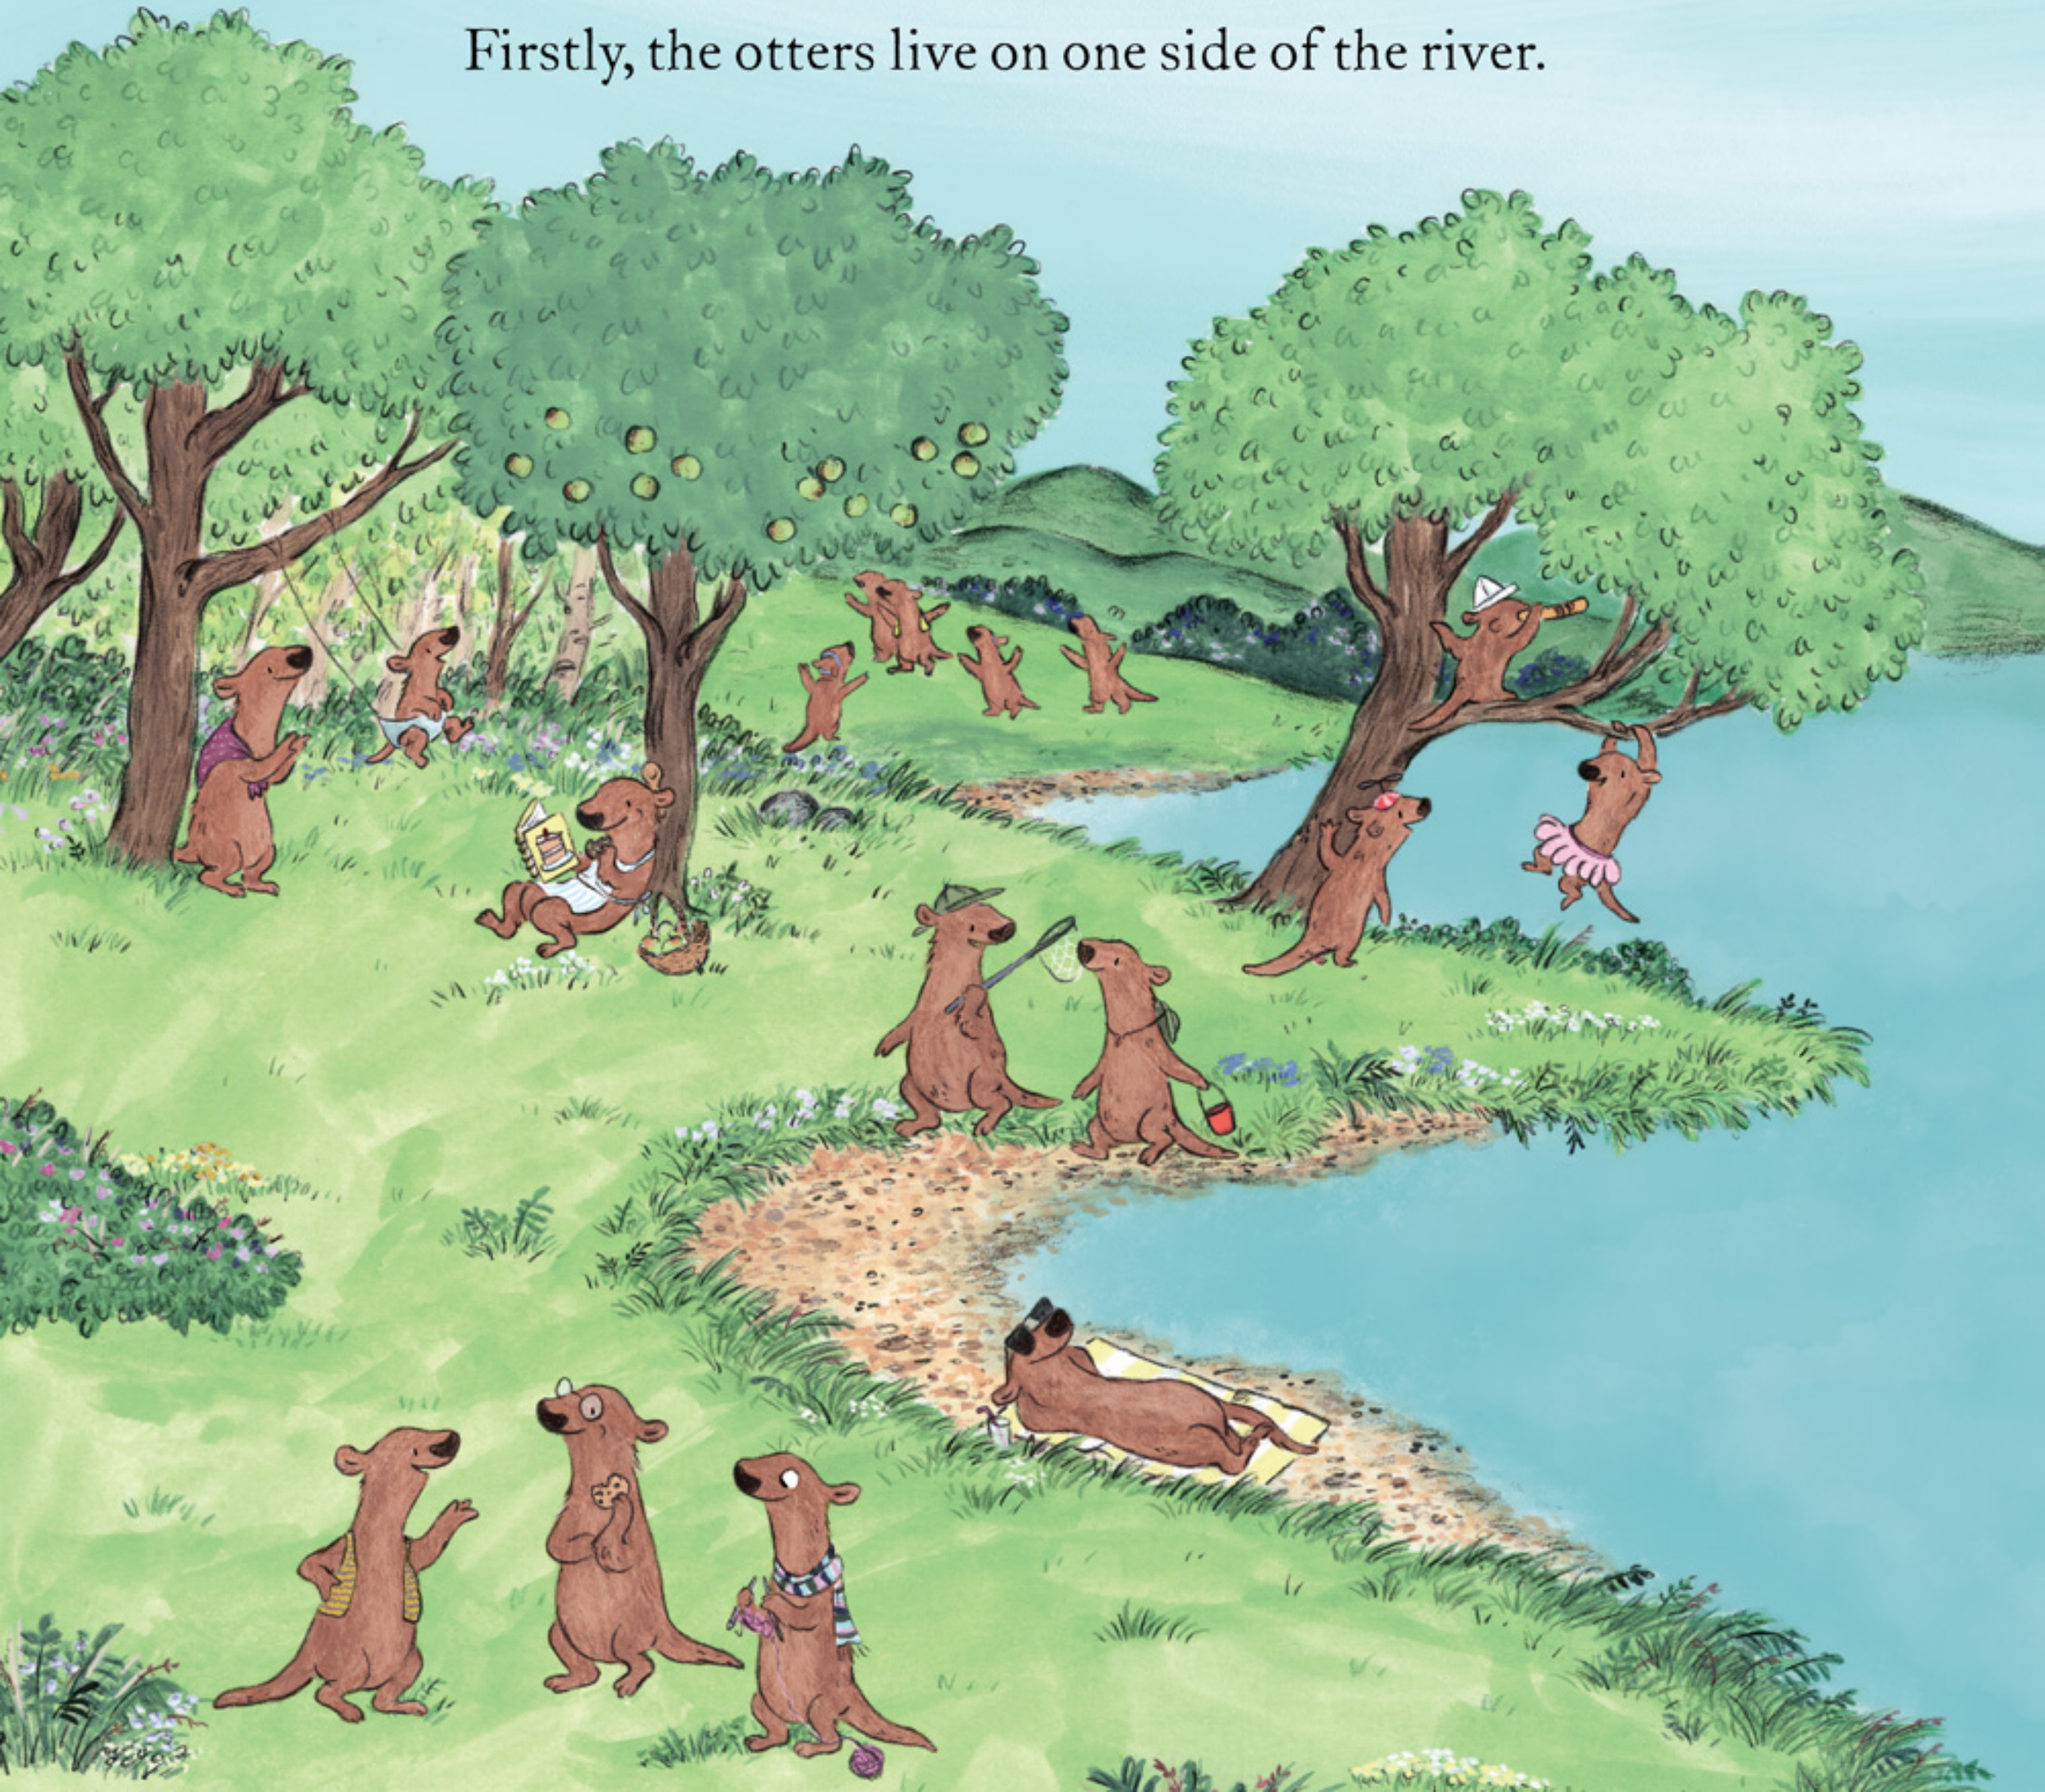

Printed in China

Paper used in the production of this book is a natural, recyclable product made from wood grown in sustainable forests. The manufacturing process conforms to the environmental regulations of the country of origin

Before our story begins, there are a few things you should know.

Firstly, the otters live on one side of the river.

Secondly, the badgers live on the other side of the river.

Thirdly, and MOST importantly . . .

OTTERS AND BADGERS

DO NOT

GET

ALONG.

It's just the way things had always been.

Badgers and otters couldn't even share the river without a fight.

And it was only getting worse.

So, to avoid any more trouble, the leaders decided the two groups must never meet.

No badgers and no otters must EVER cross the river.

Stay away!

NO OTTERS ALLOWED

Good riddance to them!

NOD NOD

BADGERS KEEP OUT

And that would be that.