

George the Wombat has lots of friends.

One day, Fred the Kangaroo, Annie the Goose and little Lizzie the Mouse asked George if he wanted to come and play.

...and there was Wilma the Fox.

'Well hello, little wombat!' she said with a sly smile.
'Welcome to my home in the dark wood.
Now, why don't you show me where you live?'

George froze.

'Why?' he asked.

'Because I'm Wilma the Fox and I say so,'
said the fox angrily.

George didn't like to be bossed around,
least of all by a fox.