MR. MEN
LITTLE MISS
All Different

Roger Hargreaves

Property of Farshore

Original concept by
Roger Hargreaves

With grateful thanks to
Dr. Elizabeth Kilbey

These are uncorrected proofs, property of Farshore,
and not to be distributed without the permission of the publisher.

This is a story about celebrating our differences.

We are all wonderfully different and equally special.

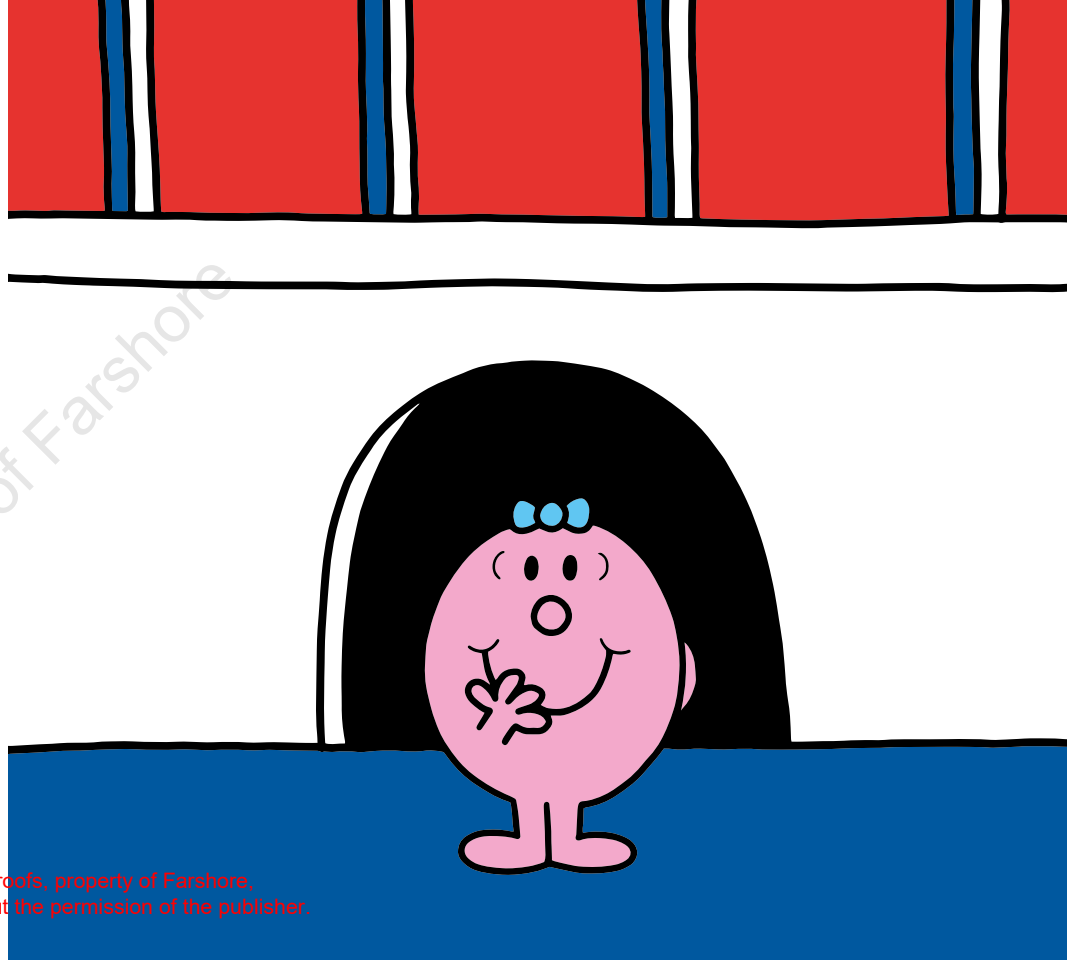

What makes you … You?

Meet Little Miss Tiny.

Little Miss Tiny is very small.

So small that she lives in a mousehole at Home Farm.

Little Miss Tiny sometimes wishes she was taller.

Property of Farshore

These are uncorrected proofs, property of Farshore,
and not to be distributed without the permission of the publisher.

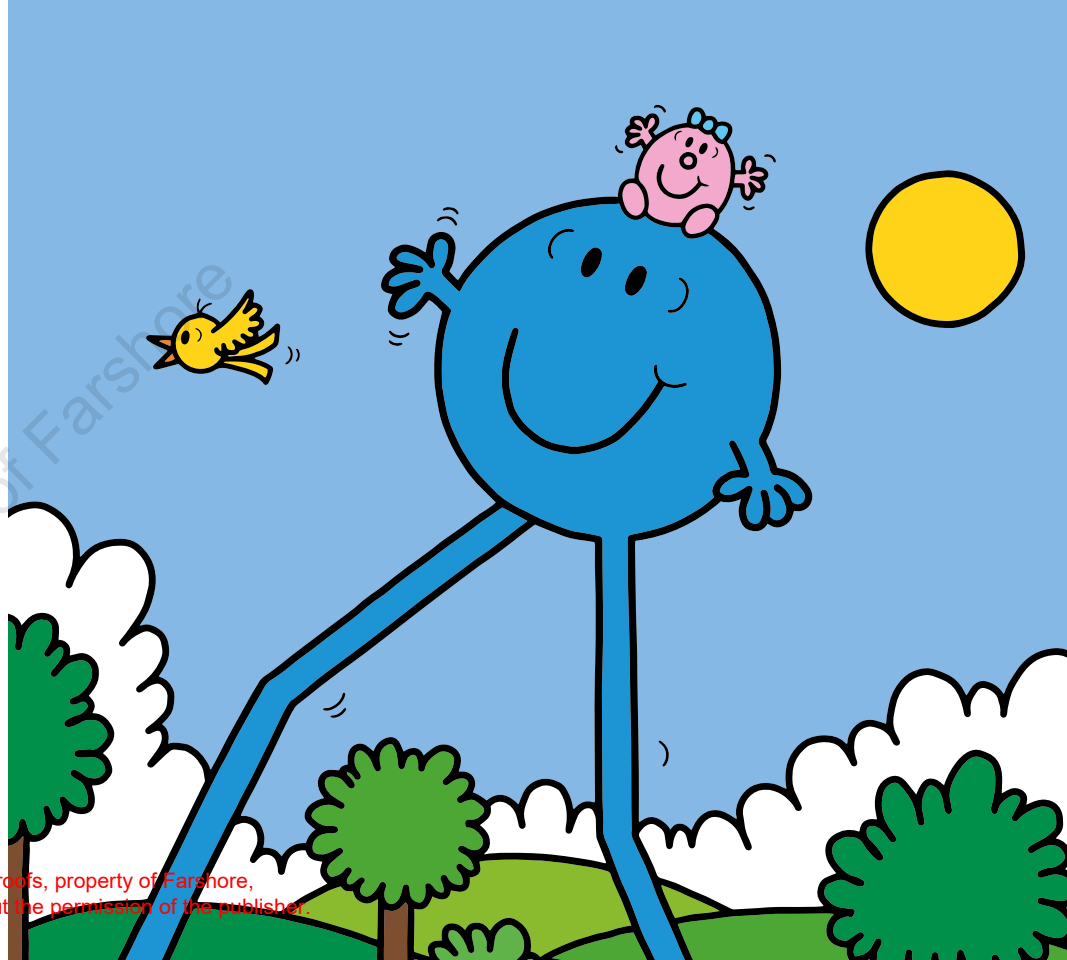

Did you know that she has a friend called Mr Tall?

Mr Tall is quite possibly the tallest person in the world.

Once upon a time, Mr Tall wished his legs weren't so very, very long.

But then, with some help from his friends, he realised he was perfect as he is.

Though that's another story!

Property of Farshore

These are uncorrected proofs, property of Farshore,
and not to be distributed without the permission of the publisher.

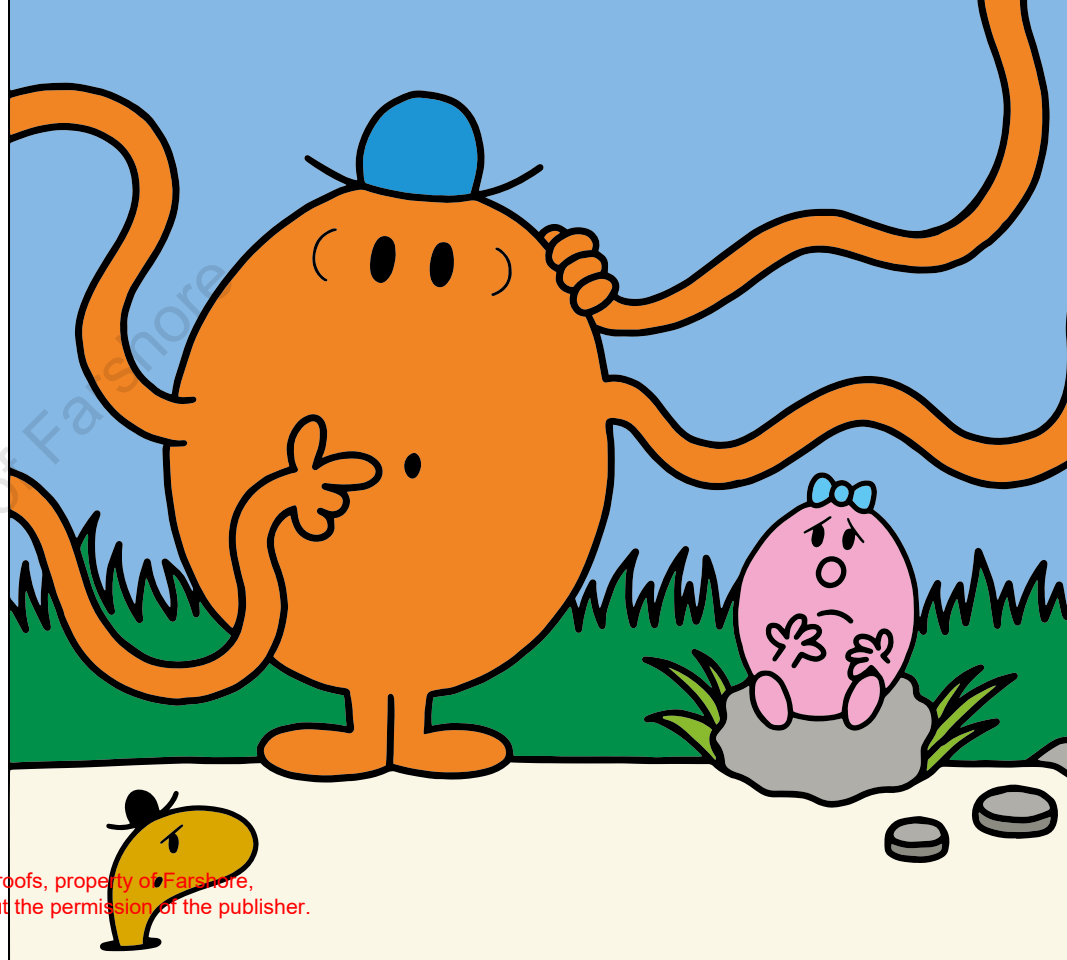

One of the friends who helped him was Mr Tickle, who has extraordinarily long arms.

Now Mr Tickle was going to help Little Miss Tiny, too.

One day, Mr Tickle saw Little Miss Tiny looking very sad.

“Are you OK, Little Miss Tiny?” he asked, kindly.

“I wish I was bigger,” she replied. “I went to the park and I’m too tiny to get onto the swing.”

Property of Farshore

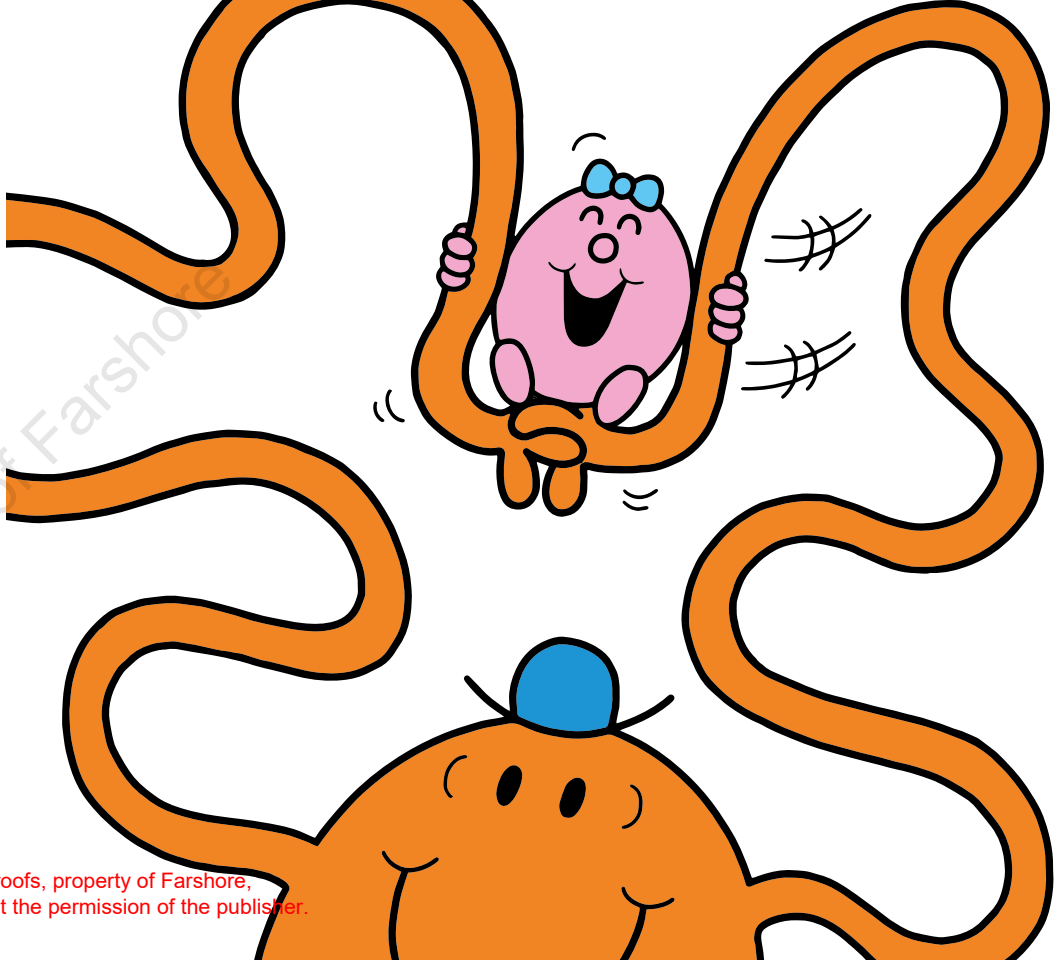

These are uncorrected proofs, property of Farshore,
and not to be distributed without the permission of the publisher.

Mr Tickle smiled widely.

“Would you like me to help?” he asked, and with a nod from Little Miss Tiny, he used his extraordinarily long arms as her very own, perfectly-sized swing.

“That was fun!” she giggled. “Do you like having long arms, Mr Tickle?”

“I love my long arms!” he exclaimed. “They’re great for reaching things, even when I’m in a different room and best of all, they’re perfect for tickling! They make me … Me.”

Property of Farshore

These are uncorrected proofs, property of Farshore,
and not to be distributed without the permission of the publisher.