Some friends
are there from the start.

Others come exactly when you need them.

Some friendships grow from a common interest or are tested by a new arrival.

Some friends can only be seen by you.

but most important,
they will make you
roll with laughter.