SUBJECT:

LOOSHKIN

As the world's foremost expert on cats, I know everything there is to know. Cats cat cats. I know it all. I know how they think, how they act, I have studied cats for YEARS. In fact, all the other cat experts call me up when they don't know something about cats, and then I tell them the answer, and they go 'Oh wow you really are a CAT GENIUS'. And I go 'Yes, yes I am'.

One such instance occurred when my esteemed colleague PROFESSOR FRUMPLES wrote to me from jail, asking for my help. He had gone to visit a cat named LOOSHKIN, but his reports of what happened next sounded... extraordinary. Bizarre. Dare I say it, even QUITE UNLIKELY.

So, I have decided to study LOOSHKIN myself. I shall spend ONE WEEK observing Looshkin's behaviour. I will compile evidence and note my daily observations. And I will collect my findings in the following pages of this book, so that the whole world might learn more about this cat.

After all, Looshkin IS just a cat.

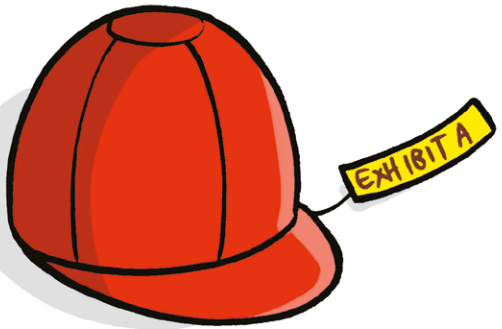

How hard can this be?
