

. . . where she finds herself among a flock of birds looking for worms. Doris is delighted that they hardly notice her. Can you find her?

Nestling up with her feathered friends, she begins to wonder if she's an elephant or an ele-finch.