

The bee, named Baboo,
used to sit on his own.
With no one to play with he danced all alone.

But one day Baboo felt a bit more courageous and went up to talk to a big bee, Ignacious.
He quietly whispered,

"Could I play with you?
I'd love to be friends... My name is Baboo."

So they danced all night long by the light of the moon,

as the wind in the trees sang its beautiful tune.

