When it's Christmas will you . . . wear a pair of jolly antlers, and put a star or a fairy on top of a tree? Will you eat yummy chocolate coins? Will you see Santa at the theatre, wrap presents, and roller skate to church? Will you put on a tall crown of candles, make a snowman on a beach, and dress like an angel and sing? Will you eat some creamy, fruity pavlova, or mix and bake a Christmas cake? Will you remember to feed the wild birds? Will you put on your very best You Choose outfit, hang twinkly tinsel, and shovel up reindeer poo? Will you get a clog full of treats, enjoy Christmas books, and act in a Nativity play? Will you pack a sack for Santa, and go dancing with friends? Will you get gifts from La Befana, or peel and eat a juicy tangerine? Will you give to a charity? Will you go sledging, and drink hot chocolate? Will you make a wreath for your door, and buy lovely things at the Grand Market? Will you make an origami bird, watch some Christmassy television and crack open and munch some nuts? Will you write cards to friends, pull crackers, and read out funny jokes? Will you wear a special Christmas jumper, and nibble a gingerbread house? Will you be visited by Krampus, make a paper-plate angel, and find a pickle hidden in a tree? Will you choose to be the front or the back end of a pantomime cow? Will you look for animal tracks in the snow?

For all my dear grandchildren,
love from Granny.
