You pull out the ring and slip it on your finger, but nothing happens. "YOU THINK YOU CAN USE THAT WRETCHED THING AGAINST ME?" growls the dragon. "I WILL NOT LET IT HAPPEN AGAIN IN MY FOREST."

It chuckles so loudly that all the trees around you shake, then it suddenly bends down and bites off your head, spitting it out high over the treetops.

You set off across the swamp, but almost immediately realise that leaving the path was a very bad idea – within a few steps the mud starts sucking you down, until with a sickening squelch your legs start to disappear into it. Grabbing hold of a fern, you pull yourself out – but not before you've sliced your leg on a sharp rock. Safely back on the path, you take another look at the suit of armour – somehow you're going to have to find your way past it.
