The Wizard of Oz

Dorothy collected the morning's eggs with her dog, Toto.

She lived with her

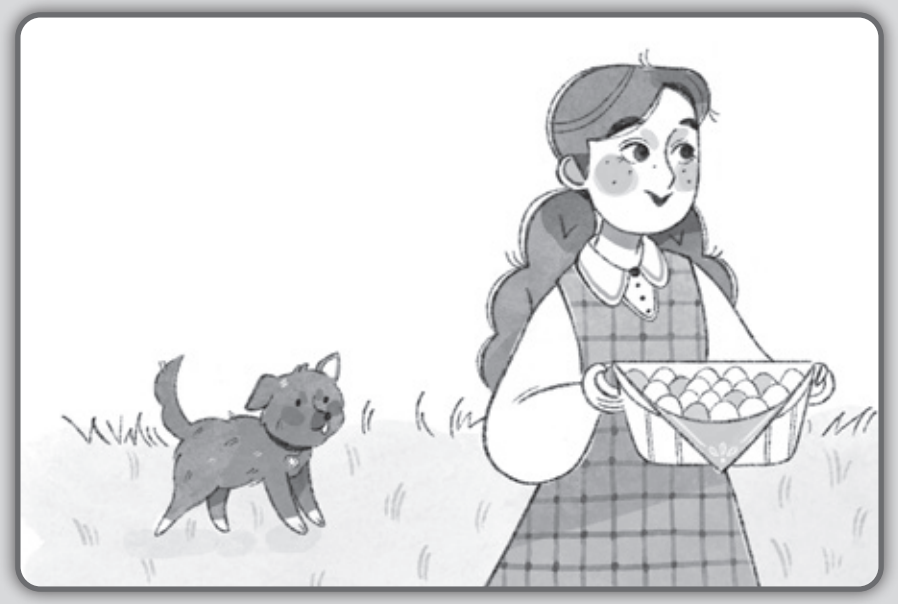

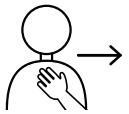

Aunt Em and Uncle Henry

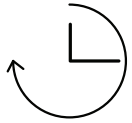

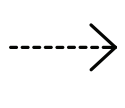

in a farmhouse in the countryside.

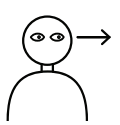

Dorothy really wanted an adventure.

But nothing ever happened in the countryside. She saw

Uncle Henry looking at the sky.

He knew a storm was coming.

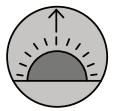

'Good morning, Uncle Henry!'

said Dorothy.

Uncle Henry didn't think it was a good morning.

He was worried about the storm.

Dorothy went to find Aunt Em to tell her about the storm.

Uncle Henry quickly ran towards them.

'The storm is here!' he shouted.

Uncle Henry and Aunt Em ran to hide from the storm.

But Dorothy couldn't find Toto.

She ran into the farmhouse to find him.

The wind got faster and faster.

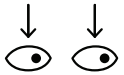

Then, something strange happened.

The house began to fly up into the air!

Dorothy closed her eyes and held onto the kitchen table as the house flew through the storm.

Then, the house landed on the ground. Everything went quiet.

Dorothy slowly opened her eyes.

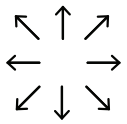

With Toto in her arms,

she went outside.

Everything was beautiful and colourful.

Dorothy walked towards a town filled with colourful houses.

On her way there, she saw a lady.

'Welcome to the Land of the Munchkins!' the lady said.

The Munchkins stopped hiding and walked to Dorothy.

They were small, magical people.

They had pointed hats and bells on their shoes.

'Who are you?' asked the lady.

Dorothy told the lady her name.

'I am the Good Witch of the North,'

said the witch.
