DON'T EAT GRANNY

I've rubbed out the comma.

First published in 2024 by Plaister Press

Text and illustrations copyright © Gillian McClure 2024
The moral rights of the author/illustrator have been asserted
All rights reserved

Design: Lisa Kirkham
A CIP catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library
ISBN: 978-0-9565308-8-4
Printed in UK

plaisterpress
Plaister Press
9 Trafalgar Street,
Cambridge, CB4 1ET
www.gillianmcclure.com

The End

And now my story has its happy ending.

Red Hoodie is going to visit Granny in her bag. Red Hoodie has a cake, cookies and candy.

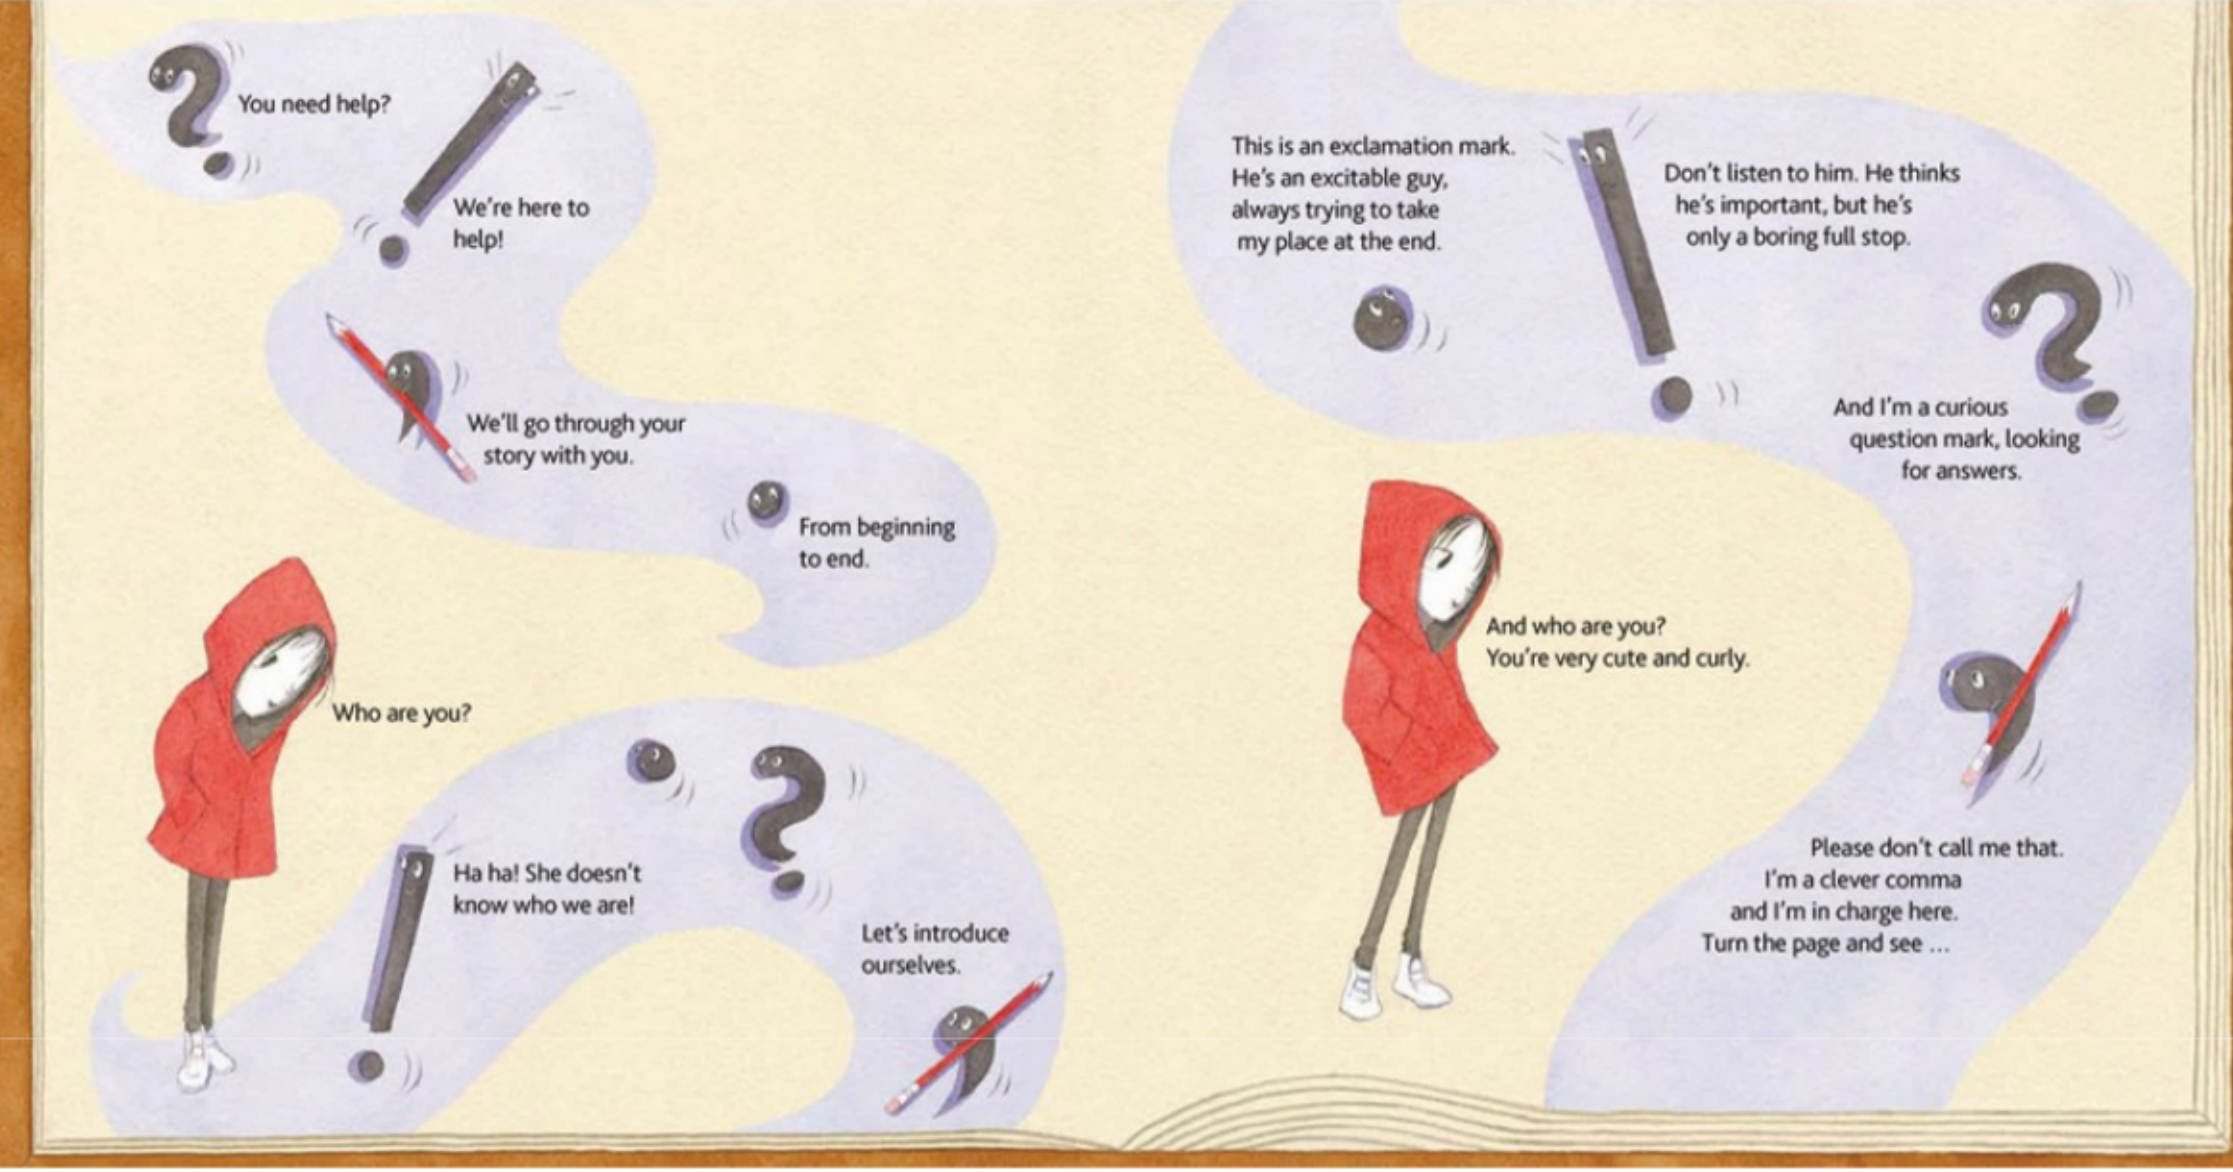

But I didn't mean this to happen.

And I can't see how to put it right.

Please, someone help me!

You need help?
We're here to help!
We'll go through your story with you.
From beginning to end.
Who are you?
Ha ha! She doesn't know who we are!
Let's introduce ourselves.
This is an exclamation mark. He's an excitable guy, always trying to take my place at the end.
Don't listen to him. He thinks he's important, but he's only a boring full stop.
And I'm a curious question mark, looking for answers.
And who are you? You're very cute and curly.
Please don't call me that. I'm a clever comma and I'm in charge here. Turn the page and see ...

Red Hoodie is going to visit Granny. In her bag Red Hoodie has a cake, cookies and candy.

I've rubbed out the full stop after the word 'bag', and I'm putting it here.

Ah! Now it makes sense.

Come on, guys. There's more to do over the page.