My First Discovery
Paperbacks

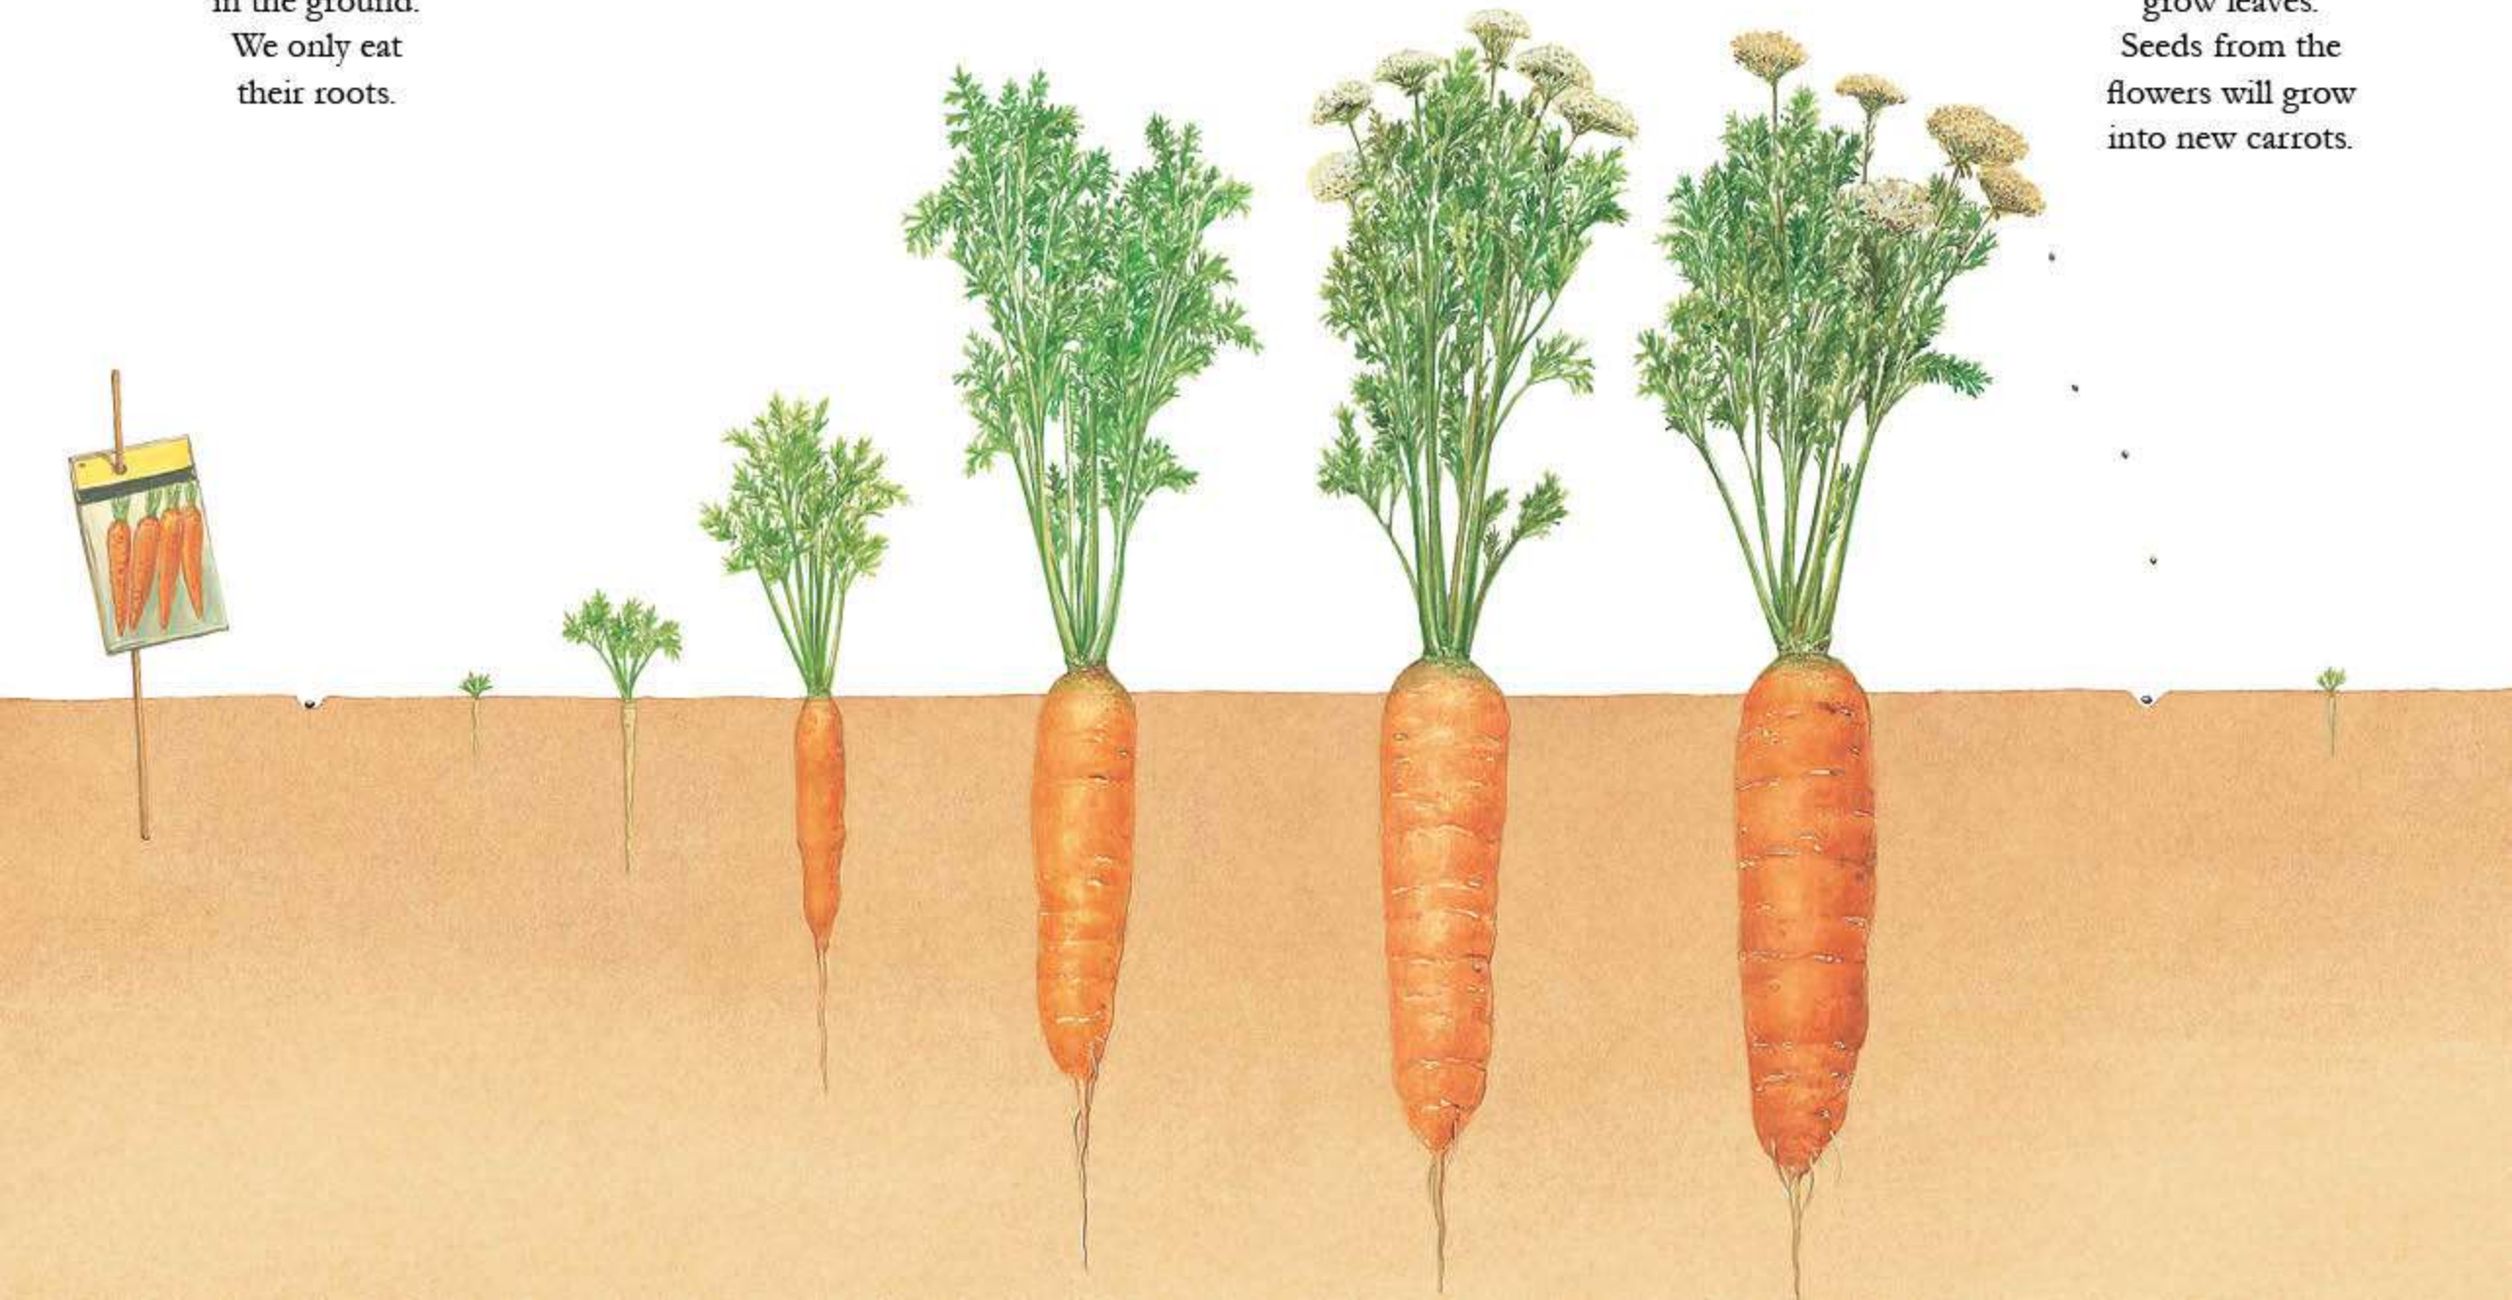

We pick aubergines,
tomatoes and courgettes,
in the same way as
we pick fruit.

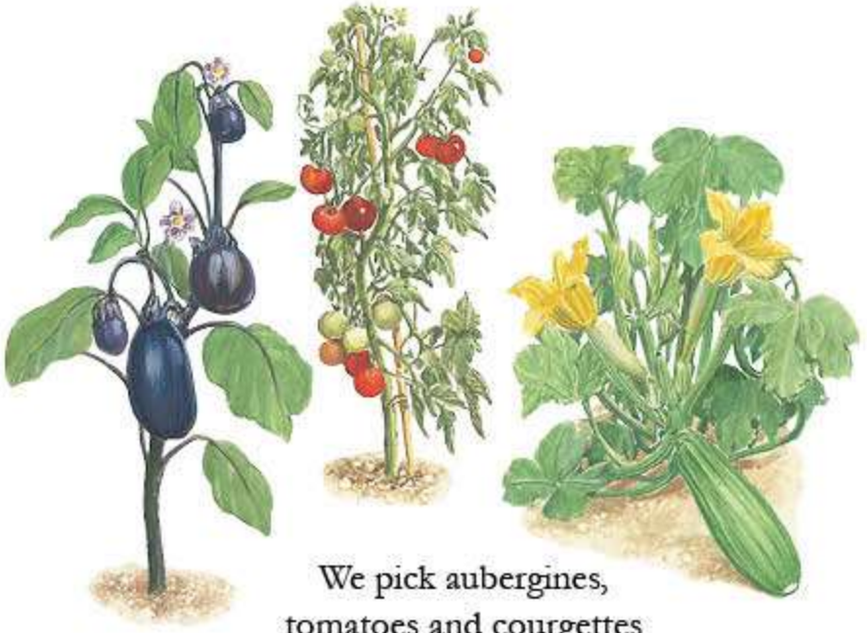

They are fruit vegetables.

Carrots grow
in the ground.
We only eat
their roots.

Carrots
grow leaves.
Seeds from the flowers will grow
into new carrots.

Other vegetables grow
above the ground.

We pick aubergines,
tomatoes and courgettes
in the same way as
we pick fruit.

They are fruit vegetables.

To plant vegetables, you need a spade, a hoe and a trowel.
First you weed and dig the soil, then you put the young plant gently in the soil.

You need to water them
regularly.

With sunshine and rain, you can grow the most delicious vegetables.
