Goodnight, I love you
With sparkly lights on every page

"Look – more stars above the tree,"
Says little bear.
"Now there are THREE!"
"OK," says Dad,
"let's see the night. But soon you must be sleeping tight."

"Each time I look, there's more and more..."
Says little bear.
"Now I see FOUR!"
They wander through the sleepy town,
Where shiny stars are twinkling down.

Little bear's eyelids start to close,
But still he points – "Just look at those..."
And even though it's very late,
He loves the stars.
"Now there are EIGHT!"
