As summer comes to an end, our swallow is very busy. The journey south is near, and the birds all gather to get ready. There are so many of them!

The little swallow has practised flying a lot, and now her wings are strong enough for the long journey south. She can't wait to fly over beautiful landscapes and meet many new animals!

Northern Europe

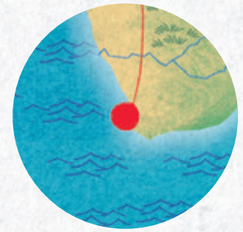

Our journey begins

Can you spot the spider spinning her web?

It's almost time to leave the friends who have kept the birds company for months now.

Say goodbye, little swallow!

Summer is over now in South Africa and our little swallow must return to the North. The long journey back awaits but she's now an adult, strong and fast.

Southern Africa

Time to fly again!

She has had so much fun with her new penguin friends who live on the beach, along with many other animals, including those that swim in the ocean.

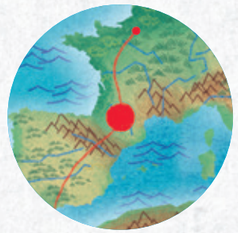

Today, she's come to say goodbye. She flies fast, spinning in the vast blue sky, to celebrate the beautiful beaches of South Africa.

Her dolphin friends jump up with a splash. She will miss them very much.

What other animals can you see?

Our little friend has reached a beautiful mountain range. These are the Pyrenees - majestic peaks,
but also a great challenge to overcome.

The swallow will have to fly very high,
where the air is cold,
and the winds are fierce.

Southwestern Europe

So much to see!

It's September, and beneath the swallow,
the meadows and forests are turning shades of yellow and red. What a wonderful sight!

How many animals and birds can be seen as she glides past the mountains?
