Opening extract from

The Elves and the Shoemaker

Written by

Jane Bingham

Illustrated by

Desideria Guiccardini

Published by

Usbourne

All text is copyright of the author

Please print off and read at your

With very little business, they were running out of money. Soon, the shoemaker could only afford enough leather to make one more pair of shoes.

He cut out the shoe shapes and laid them on his work table. Then he yawned.

"I'm too tired to sew these today," he sighed.