Welcome to Henry's House!

Hi, I'm Henry!
Welcome to my house. Anything can happen here and it
often does.

I like finding things out, and
so does my dog,
Mothball...

I like
FOOD
too!

FISHCAKE

You never know what's behind the next door
or just around the corner, but Jagers the
caretaker usually keeps
an eye on things.

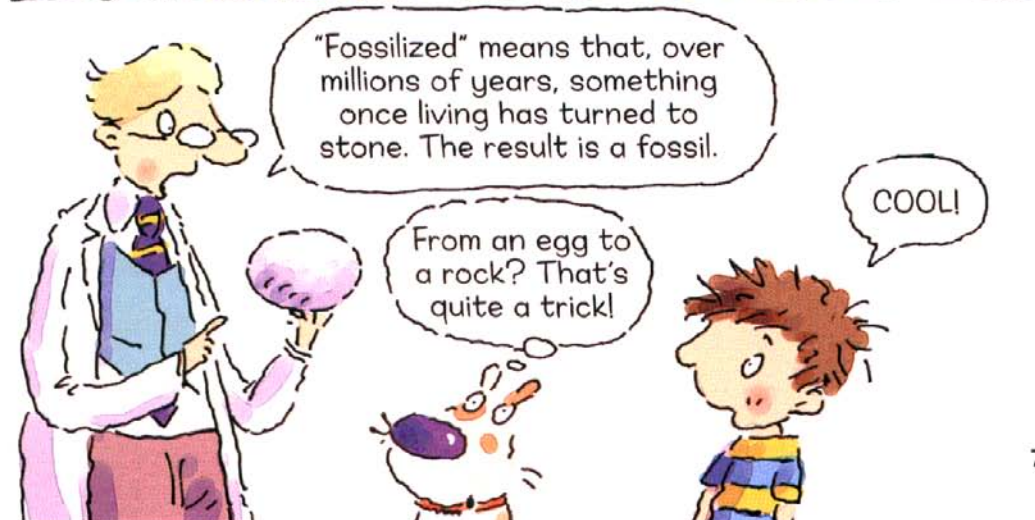

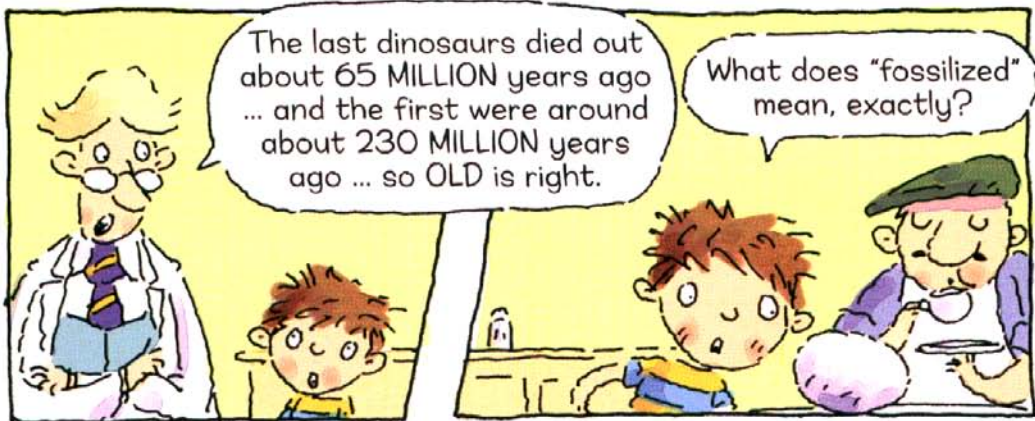

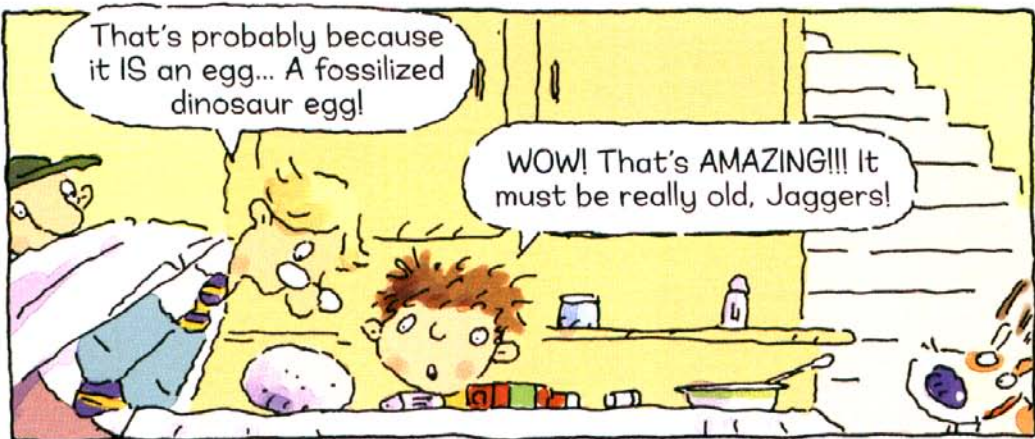

That's
true! I do.

Then there are the guests ... and not all of us are human.

No wonder
every day is
such a big adventure!

Egg-citing times!

Mighty giants

Dinosaurs lived all over the world (which looked very different then). Everywhere was very hot. There were large trees and plants such as ferns.

The biggest-known dinosaur was Seismosaurus.

It ate leaves off the tops of trees.

It was 40 metres long from nose to tail.

Seismosaurus could fight off enemies such as Goniopholis, a kind of giant crocodile.

Defence

Even the eyelids of the Ankylosaurus were armour plated. They were made of thick bone as well as tough skin!
