Peninsula

Going Global

- Sticks out from shorelines like a sore thumb
- Watching their figure, they are never as fat as they are tall
- Likes variety, appearing in all shapes and sizes

I'm all fingers and thumbs.
No matter what I do,
I always seem to stick out.
I never asked to be noticed, but I can't help it. Almost completely surrounded by water, but never quite cut off, I jut out from Islands and Continents. Crucially,
I keep myself grounded – I'm well connected and always linked to dry land.
My only rule is to always be longer than I am wide.

It carries whole countries such as Spain and Portugal.

- World's largest: Arabian Peninsula
- Europe's largest: Scandinavian Peninsula
- Britain's largest: Southwest Peninsula

Island

Going Global

- An independent character who goes it alone
- Found in bodies of water, from Oceans to ponds
- Sometimes gangs up to make an archipelago

Give me some space!
I don't need to be connected to other bits of land. Surrounded by water, I prefer to stand alone in splendid isolation.
I can be Continent-sized, just like Australia, or a tiny dot of Rock in a small Lake.
It doesn't matter, so long as I'm separated from any mainland by a decent-sized body of water. Rivers and canals don't count or Earth would full of me!

- Biggest: Greenland (2,175,600 km^2)
- Eighth biggest: G. Britain (229,870 km^2)
- Biggest archipelago: 17,000 Islands

A group of Islands is called an archipelago (say "arky-pell-ago").

Helping your children choose books they will love

I reading

Lovereading4kids.co.uk is a book website created for parents and children to make choosing books easy and fun

opening extract from

Planet Earth

written by

Daniel Gilpin

illustrated by

Simon Basher

published by

MacMillan

All Text is Copyright © of the Author and/or Illustrator

please print off and read at your leisure.

Lovereading4kids.co.uk