BUZZ!

"More pudding!" shouted Nick.

"No, I'll pass it over," said Miss Topping.

"Member of Parliament," answered Giles.

"Correct! Who invented the telephone?"

BUZZ! Nick was first again.

"Um..." he said, going red.

"Er ... it was..."

"Time's up," said Miss Topping. "Swotter House?"

"Alexander Graham Bell," answered Giles.

"Correct!"

CHAPTER 4

The questions went on – and on. By round three Pudsley were trailing miserably by 18 points to one. Nick had answered nineteen questions, and got eighteen of them wrong.

"What are you doing?" moaned Donna, when they stopped for a drinks break.
