

Helping your children choose books they will love

Lovereading4kids.co.uk is a book website created for parents and children to make choosing books easy and fun

Opening extract from

Jack Splat: Superfly Pest

Written by

Lou Kuenzler

Published by

Stripes Publishing

All Text is Copyright © of the Author and/or Illustrator

Please print off and read at your leisure.

JACK SPLAT

The dustbin where I was born was full of BRILLIANT things to eat.

On Monday I ate through one rotten tomato.

But I was still hungry.

On Tuesday I ate through two slimy bananas.

But I was still hungry.

On Wednesday I ate... (You might have heard this story before – or something like it. I'm sure you get the picture. I slurped and burped and ate some truly awesome stuff. But I WAS STILL HUNGRY!)

JACK SPLAT

So... On Saturday, I ate through one soggy nappy, one shrivelled verruca, one snotty tissue, one dead mouse, one hairy sausage and one pellet of hamster poo.

That night I had a stomach ache. But I wasn't hungry any more – and I wasn't a tiny maggot any more, either. I was a big fat juicy one!

I built a cosy pupa around myself and stayed inside for two days. Then I pushed my way out and ... (wait for it...)

