Helping your children choose books they will love

Lovereading4kids.co.uk is a book website created for parents and children to make choosing books easy and fun

Opening extract from

Here Comes the Poetry Man

Written by Fred Sedgwick

Published by Salt Publishing

All Text is Copyright © of the Author and/or Illustrator

Please print off and read at your leisure.

FRED SEDGWICK Here Comes the Poetry Man

FRED SEDGWICK was born in Ireland and brought up in London. He has been a freelance writer, teacher and lecturer since 1990. He is the author of hundreds of poems in anthologies for children, and over thirty books: about teaching writing, Shakespeare and the Young Writer (Routledge), etymology, Where Words Come From, (Continuum) and art education. He is a father (to Daniel) and a grandfather (to Malachi).

Also by Fred Sedgwick

Hey! with John Cotton (Mary Glasgow, 1990)

The Biggest Riddle in the World with John Cotton (Mary Glasgow, 1990)

Pizza Curry Fish and Chips (Longman, 1994)

Blind Date (Tricky Sam! Press, 1999)

The Ammonite's Revenge with John Cotton (Tricky Sam! Press, 2000)

Stone and Other Poems (Happy Dragons Press, 2004)

FRED Sedgwick

Here Comes the Poetry Man

Poems for Young People

Children's Poetry Library No. 9

PUBLISHED BY SALT PUBLISHING Dutch House, 307–308 High Holborn, London WCIV 71L United Kingdom

All rights reserved

© Fred Sedgwick, 2011

The right of Fred Sedgwick to be identified as the editor of this work has been asserted by him in accordance with Section 77 of the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

This book is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Salt Publishing.

First published 2011

Printed in the UK by the MPG Books Group

Typeset in Oneleigh II/I4

This book is sold subject to the conditions that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form of binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

ISBN 978 I 8447I 296 o paperback

1 3 5 7 9 8 6 4 2

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	xi
First Thing Today	I
Poem for Eloise	2
Auntie's Boyfriend	4
Eloise Alone	5
My Grandparents' Golden Wedding Party	ク
Moving House	8
A Disgusting Poem	9
Favourite Words	II
What the Headteacher Said	13
Loving Gertie Best	14
Fall in love	16
Notice on a Classroom Door	18
Leave Charlie Alone	20
The Fight	22
Victoria's Poem	23
Butterfly	24
Stanley's Blues	25
My Cat Stanley	27
My Cat Cleaning Himself	28
Meeting	29
Some Other Ark	30
Once There Was a Unicorn	31
Hunky-Dory Daly	22

Under	33
Snapshots	34
Three for Winter	34
Cinquain Prayer, February Night	35
Thaw	36
Elegy for Bonfire Night	37
Three for Spring	38
East Anglia	39
The Oak Chest	40
The Thunder to the Lightning	4 I
In the House There Are	42
Hate Sonnet	43
Mr Khan's Shop	44
Dance Poem	46
Poetry Man	48
'Our God, Heaven Cannot Hold Him'	50
Lord of All Gardens	51
After Giacometti (1901-1966)	52
Requiem for a Cat	53

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Some of these poems first appeared in the following anthologies:

These Macmillan anthologies: Unzip Your Lips (1998), Unzip Your Lips Again (1999), The Works 2 (2002), Read Me and Laugh (2005), The Works 4 (2005), The Works 5 (2006), Read Me Out Loud (2007) and The Works 8 (2009).

Also: This Way That Way (Mary Glasgow, 1989); The Orchard Book of Funny Poems (Orchard, 1993); Young Hippo Spooky Poems (Scholastic, 1998); Someone I Like (Barefoot Books, 2000); Jenny Kissed Me (Questions, 2000); 101 Favourite Poems (Harper Collins, 2002); Haven't You Grown! (Kingfisher, 2003); Disgusting Poems (Scholastic, 2004); Why does my Mum always iron a crease in my jeans? (Puffin, 2005); Read Away (Forlag Malling, Denmark, 2007); Back on Track (Natur & Kultur, Sweden, 2010) and Michael Rosen's A to Z: the best children's poetry from Agard to Zephaniah (Puffin, 2009).

FIRST THING TODAY

(for Jimmy)

First thing today before the cockerel crowed a baby's cry from across the road.

Hi there baby, damp and furled, hi there. Welcome to our world.

Here's the little finger of my right hand and here's a teddy you won't understand yet

and here's flowers for your mummy and what about this? Here's my first hug and my first kiss.

POEM FOR ELOISE

O Eloise my Eloise my hay-feverish keeper of bees walking alone under sun-dappled trees you could charm the sunlight from those trees you could charm the honey from those bees O Eloise my Eloise

O Eloise my Eloise with your bright eyes and pretty knees you'll find a boy but learn that he's not worthy of you Eloise not fit to climb your sunny trees or take the honey from your bees not fit to carry your house keys O Eloise my Eloise

But please my Eloise

don't

(ACHOO!)

[Eloise sneezes]

sneeze

my Eloise

AUNTIE'S BOYFRIEND

Auntie's brought her boyfriend home. He's sitting in a chair. He wears an earring and he's got no hair.

He's crazy about football and I'm glad about that. He's polite to my Granny, he's kind to the cat. But I have to make an effort not to stand and stare 'Cos he wears an earring and he's got no hair.

He eats his dinner nicely. His manners are OK. He sips his tea in silence in an ordinary way. He nibbles with decorum at a chocolate éclair — But he wears an earring and he's got no hair.

I'll ring up the gang. I'll ring them for a dare: 'Come round this evening, there's a secret I must share. Auntie's brought her boyfriend home. He's sitting in a chair And he wears an earring and he's got no hair'.

ELOISE ALONE

In faded jeans and anorak I walk along the railway track.

Disused for more than twenty years, it calms my thunderstorm of tears.

The rails are going who knows where and I'd go too but I don't dare.

The voices raised in disarray are long ago and far away.

Wild flowers wave like tiny flags and there's a thrush that drags and drags a worm from deep inside the grass. The clouds are calm and small, and cross the sky beyond the pylon there ... and I'd go too but I don't dare.

The argument that drove me from the living room dies and is gone.

In faded jeans and anorak I walk along the railway track.

MY GRANDPARENTS' GOLDEN WEDDING PARTY

There'll be a jazz band,

a jazz band swinging,

in the big tent we'll hire

for their golden wedding.

There'll be a jazz band

& Gran and Grandad

they'll be scatting & singing

he like some old jazzer,

she like some old jazzer.

They'll swing & sing & scat to the jazz band swinging.

MOVING HOUSE

A family's moving house today
From our estate.
Their lives are lifted out the door
And through the gate.

Here's a small piano,
Here's a large guitar.
One's stowed in the big lorry,
One in the little car.

Here comes a trumpet and a flute.
Here comes a violin.
Here's some jangling chiming bells
And a mandolin.

Here's a cello with its bow,
Here's a set of drums.
Here, smoothly on wheels, the children's Karaoke comes!

I don't know where they'll sit to drink
Their next pot of tea—
But I wish them tunes. And rhythm. And I wish them harmony.

A DISGUSTING POEM

Sir said: Write a disgusting poem about embarrassing stuff—spots and sick and toilets and bellybutton fluff ...

And I thought: 'That's enough!'

I like poems about the songs my mother sometimes sings and the moon and the stars on a summer night and lying in bed on Sunday when the church bell rings and the glint of creamy white on waves on foreign shores and the delicate marmalade-coloured fur on my kitten's paws and starlings' purple wings ...

So I wrote that and Sir said: Fred, you haven't done what I said. Forget the moon and the stars at night write about knickers instead.

FAVOURITE WORDS

Miss said, 'Please write down your six favourite words' and mine were 'path' and 'poem', 'jazz', and 'poetry', 'Daddy' and 'samosa'.

Jessica's were 'Jessica', 'purple' (her favourite colour), 'Jess', 'Amanda' (her middle name) and 'bedroom' and 'me'.

Miss's were 'chocolate' and 'chocolate' and 'chocolate' and 'chocolate' and 'chocolate' and, finally, 'chocolate'.

Craig said his were 'gun' and 'war', 'army-man' and 'CRASH!' and 'tank' and 'submarine'.

And the new student teacher? Hers were 'love' and 'peace' 'beach', 'sun', 'wine' and 'Mark'

and we all said
Is that your boyfriend miss?

You can tell a lot about people from their favourite words.

WHAT THE HEADTEACHER SAID WHEN HE SAW ME RUNNING OUT OF SCHOOL AT 1.15 P.M. ON 21 JULY LAST YEAR TO BUY AN ICE CREAM FROM PELOZZI'S VAN

Hey!*

*This poem is an attempt on three world records at once: the longest title, the longest footnote and the shortest text of any poem in the western world. It has been lodged with the Guinness Book of Records.

LOVING GERTIE BEST

I love Hannah's hairstyle And Danuella's dress. I love Chloe's class—she is A clear catwalk success—

But Gertie gets me giggling And I love Gertie best.

I love Rita's writing,
I love Zara's art.
The music Maisie plays with Pol
Hammers in my heart—
I hear it from the north, the south,
The east and from the west—

But Gertie gets me giggling And I love Gertie best.

I love Maggie's movement When she's jiving in the gym. I love Sabrina's soft good night When disco lights are dim.

I love the way that Pippa passes Every little test —

But Gertie gets me giggling And I love Gertie best.

I love Eram's glossy hair,
I love Nasima's nose.
I love Farida's fingers
And her brightly painted toes.
I love Niamh and Norma
When I'm feeling sad and stressed—

But Gertie gets me giggling And I love Gertie best.

FALL IN LOVE

Fall in love with Lorna, fall in love with Sam, fall in love with Lucy, fall in love with Pam.

Fall in love with Margaret, fall in love with Frances, fall in love with Diane—wow, the way she dances!

Fall in love with Lillibet.
Fifi's fine as well.
Fall in love with Phoebe even though she cannot spell.

Fall in love with Leila, fall in love with Lou, fall for Jo, Fiona, Jane or any of that crew.

Fall in love with whom you like as deeply as you dare but brace your heart for breaking 'cos love is never fair.

Fall in love with any girl while you're on the shelf—but don't fall in love with Jenny, no —

'cos Jenny's in love with herself.