

LONDON

WELCOME TO LONDON, the greatest city in the world. For two thousand years, London has been a thriving centre for commerce, culture and finance. Still capturing the world's today, it is as famous for its past as for its modern life. As the modern dictionary once said: "When a man is tired of London, he is tired of life."

HARRODS

You can buy anything at London's famous department store. From a teddy bear to a pair of diamond-encrusted high heels. Once upon a time, you could always get yourself a fully equipped antelope! Harrods also housed the capital's first cinema, built in 1919 (customers were offered heavily discounted seats on the way).

STICKINGHAM PALACE

The palace is the official London residence of Queen Elizabeth II. It is designed to be a showpiece, the flag on top of the palace will be the Royal Standard. The crown flag is flown when the Queen is away from home. When she is at it, it is the changing of the guard in the park.

PICCADILLY CIRCUS

Don't know how to fight, fight, fighting, fighting, and the fountain at the heart. Piccadilly Circus is the most famous meeting place in London. It is always bustling with people and activity.
