EGMONT LUCKY COIN

Our story began over a century ago, when seventeen-year-old Egmont Harald Petersen found a coin in the street.

He was on his way to buy a flyswatter, a small hand-operated printing machine that he then set up in his tiny apartment.

The coin brought him such good luck that today Egmont has offices in over 30 countries around the world. And that lucky coin is still kept at the company's head offices in Denmark.

CALLUM's INCREDIBLE CONSTRUCTION KIT

Jonathan Emmett Illustrated by Ben Mantle

It was Callum's birthday and he'd almost finished opening his presents.

"One last surprise," said Dad, "but it's in the garage."

The garage was full of boxes.

"What is it?" asked Mum.

"It's a CONSTRUCTION KIT!" gasped Callum.

"It's an old one," said Dad. "They don't make them like this any more."

"I LOVE IT!" said Callum.

Callum played with the kit every day.

He started off …

building small things …

that didn't always work!

But as he went on
