

Helping your children choose books they will love

Lovereading4kids.co.uk is a book website created for parents and children to make choosing books easy and fun

Opening extract from
Tony Robinson's Weird World of Wonders! British

Written by
Tony Robinson

Published by
Macmillan Children's Books an imprint of Pan Macmillan

All Text is Copyright © of the Author and/or Illustrator

Please print off and read at your leisure.

Other books by Tony Robinson

The Worst Children's Jobs in History

Bad Kids

Tony Robinson's Weird World of Wonders: Romans

Tony Robinson's Weird World of Wonders: Egyptians

Tony Robinson's Weird World of Wonders: Greeks

TONY ROBINSON'S WEIRD WORLD OF WONDERS BRITISH

Illustrated by del Thorpe

MACMILLAN CHILDREN'S BOOKS

Jessica Cobb means she does all the work on the book while I jet off to the West Indies, drink delicious non-alcoholic cocktails full of exotic fruit and pieces of coconut carved into the shape of hummingbirds, dance till dawn to the sound of a thousand guitars and sleep till noon in a bed the size of an Olympic swimming pool. Thanks, Jess

Sol Hobbs has known Nits all his life. When his family got her from the dogs' home, they called her Jessie Tat, then when she came to our house we called her Winnie. But Sol reminded us that her nickname had always been Nits, and we've called her that ever since. This book's for you, Sol. Thanks, mate

First published 2012 by Macmillan Children's Books
a division of Macmillan Publishers Limited
20 New Wharf Road, London N1 9RR
Basingstoke and Oxford
Associated companies throughout the world
www.panmacmillan.com

ISBN 978-0-330-53426-0

Text copyright © Tony Robinson 2012
Illustrations copyright © Del Thorpe 2012

The right of Tony Robinson and Del Thorpe to be identified as the author and illustrator of this work has been asserted by them in accordance with the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in or introduced into a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means (electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise), without the prior written permission of the publisher. Any person who does any unauthorized act in relation to this publication may be liable to criminal prosecution and civil claims for damages.

135798642

A CIP catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

Typeset by Dan Newman/Perfect Bound Ltd
Printed and bound by CPI Group (UK) Ltd, Croydon CR0 4YY

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, resold, hired out, or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form of binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

Hi! We're the Curiosity Crew. You'll probably spot us hanging about in this book checking stuff out.

This is the story of how one tiny country ended up in charge of most of the world... and then lost it all again!

We'll tell you about spectacular naval battles, bonkers inventions and big moustaches. Read on to find out...

Nits Peewee

Aliens are heading for Earth to destroy GREAT BRITAIN...

Is that Planet
Earth, Splog?

Sure is,
Splog!

Where's Great Britain then?

Can't see it
yet, Splog.

See it now,
Splog?

No, Splog, use your telescope!

Is that it next
to France,
Splog?

I think so,
Splog.

PAINTING THE WORLD PINK

OK – so Great Britain may only look like a little pimple on the face of the Earth to a flying saucer full of aliens, but just over 100 years ago it was the greatest superpower the world had ever seen. It ruled more than 400 million people across five continents!

You'd have had no trouble at all spotting the British Empire in those days, even from outer space. More than a quarter of the world belonged to Britain, and on coloured maps it was painted pink.

TABLE OF BRITISH POSSESSIONS
in the different quarters of the globe.

Table of British Possessions in the different quarters of the globe.

Quarter	Area (sq. miles)	Population	Value of Produce (£)	Value of Imports (£)	Value of Exports (£)
Asia	1,200,000	100,000,000	10,000,000	5,000,000	15,000,000
Africa	1,000,000	50,000,000	5,000,000	2,500,000	7,500,000
America	1,500,000	150,000,000	15,000,000	7,500,000	22,500,000
Oceania	100,000	10,000,000	1,000,000	500,000	1,500,000
Total	4,200,000	310,000,000	31,000,000	15,500,000	46,500,000

TABLE OF BRITISH POSSESSIONS
in the different quarters of the globe.

Table of British Possessions in the different quarters of the globe.

Quarter	Area (sq. miles)	Population	Value of Produce (£)	Value of Imports (£)	Value of Exports (£)
Asia	1,200,000	100,000,000	10,000,000	5,000,000	15,000,000
Africa	1,000,000	50,000,000	5,000,000	2,500,000	7,500,000
America	1,500,000	150,000,000	15,000,000	7,500,000	22,500,000
Oceania	100,000	10,000,000	1,000,000	500,000	1,500,000
Total	4,200,000	310,000,000	31,000,000	15,500,000	46,500,000

This lovely map was very popular with kids in the 1850s. There was even more pink fifty years later!

Originally the plan had been to paint the British Empire red, the colour of the uniforms of the British Army. But the mapmakers complained that red was too dark to be able to read the names of the countries written on top of it. So they chose pink instead.

Yeah, I've just seen it. What a rubbish colour!

Actually, I really like pink.

People used to say that 'the sun never sets on the British Empire', because it was so big the sun was always shining on at least one part of it. From high mountains to flat coral islands, from chilly lands full of penguins to deserts chock-full of camels, the British ran it all!

Today one out of every four people in the world still speaks English, because they live in countries that were once part of the British Empire. The Brits gave them their laws, their daft sports, like cricket and rugby, their boiled eggs with soldiers for breakfast, and their scones and strawberry jam for tea.

What's our country called, gang? Why do we pin GB on our athletes, but put UK on our websites?

It's because its name has changed over the centuries ...

The Greeks called it 'The British Isles' thousands of years ago because it was where the Britons lived.

Originally the biggest island, Great Britain, was three separate countries – England, Scotland and Wales. Then they united together under one king.

Now we're called the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. This is a right mouthful, so lots of people say Britain or Great Britain instead, because it's shorter. But not accurate.

Have you got that? OK, good!

