This is Theo. He is usually a happy dog. He can sniff out adventure a mile away.

He likes to play with his toys.

He likes to chew on his bones.

He likes to snuggle in his bed.

But this morning something is wrong.
Something is different. Something smells fishy...

Actually, that is the problem. Theo cannot smell anything fishy. He cannot smell anything at all.

Theo has lost his sense of smell! But where has he lost it? Where can it be?

Theo decides to retrace his steps from yesterday.

He boldly heads to the park. Maybe he left his sense of smell there...
