

Helping your children choose books they will love

Lovereading4kids.co.uk is a book website created for parents and children to make choosing books easy and fun

Opening extract from Football Jokes
Fantastically Funny Jokes for Football Fanatics

Published by Macmillan Children's Books

All Text is Copyright © of the Author and/or Illustrator

Please print off and read at your leisure.

Kick-Off

What can light up a dull evening?
A football match.

What goes stomp, stomp, stomp, squelch?
An elephant with wet football boots.

DAD: How did this window get broken?

TOMMY: Er, my football took a shot at goal while I was cleaning it.

Young Alec came off the pitch looking very dejected and slunk into the dressing room.

‘I’ve never played so badly before,’ he sighed.

‘Oh,’ answered a fellow player. ‘You’ve played before, have you?’

TEACHER: And why were you late for school today, Jimmy?

JIMMY: I was dreaming about a football match and they went into extra time.

A tourist visiting London stopped a man carrying a football and asked, 'How do I get to Wembley?'

'Practice,' was the reply.

How can you stop moles digging up the football pitch?

Hide their spades.

MOTHER MONSTER: Why don't you go out and play football with your little brother?

LITTLE MONSTER: Oh, Mum, I'd much rather play with a real football.

Why was the mummy no good at football?

He was too wrapped up in himself.

What did the pitch say to the player?
'I hate it when people treat me like dirt.'

What's the difference between the Prince of Wales and a throw-in?
One's heir to the throne; the other's thrown to the air.